HEARNES ASKS NEW DAY FOR STATE

Johnson Asks Changes in Immigration Law

Based on Skill, Not Origin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed a sweeping new immigration law to Congress today. It is based on an immigrant's skill and his family ties in the United States. It would do away with the 40-year-old national-origins quota system. Johnson called the quota system "incompatible with our basic American tradition."

He said the proposed law "both serves the national interest and continues our traditional ideals."

"No move could more effectively reaffirm our fundamental belief that a man is to be judged — and judged exclusively — on his worth as a human being," the President said.

The bill, he said, would maintain safeguards against undesirable and excessive immigration, require all immigrants to meet U.S. security requirements, and ensure that no immigrants "could contribute to unemployment in the United States."

Unemployment figured strongly in one of the first congressional comments on the President's proposals.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said "I don't think we ought to let this country get flooded with immigrants. We've got enough of an unemployment problem as it is."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., promptly announced he would introduce a bill to carry out Johnson's recommendations and would ask for early Judiciary Committee hearings.

"The quota system should have been changed years ago," Hart said.

An administration source estimated passage of the law eventually would increase the average number of immigrants from 300,000 to 350,000 — including those not subject to numerical restrictions, such as those coming from Western Hemisphere countries.

It would eliminate an old provision — the so-called "Asia-Pacific triangle" — that discriminated against persons of Asian ancestry by forcing them to apply under the quota of their country of ancestry even if they have lived for generations in a non-Asian nation.

The provision would be abolished immediately — even though the new bill would prescribe gradual elimination of the whole quota system over five years.

The Kennedy immigration bill was sent to Congress in July 1963. It underwent Senate and House Judiciary Committee hearings but never came to a vote in either house.

The Johnson bill, following its guidelines, would set at about 165,000 the maximum quota immigrants each year. No country could account for more than 10 per cent of the total. But the President could reserve 30 per cent of the total numbers for distribution to Allied nations who currently send more immigrants than the 10 per cent would allow. He could reserve 10 per cent more for refugees.

If a nation fails to use all of its 10 per cent, its extra spaces would be reassigned to another nation. Great Britain, for example, uses only about 32,000 of its annual allocation of 83,000 under the present system.

As under the 1924 law, first preference would go to those with the most to offer the United States. But instead of limiting this preference to those with "urgently needed" skills, as under the present law, it would be broadened to include those whose immigration would be "especially advantageous" to U.S. economy and culture.

Parents of U.S. citizens would no longer be subject to quota limitations. Parents of aliens who live in the United States would fall into a fourth preference class; they currently are given no preference. Sec. (Cont. on page 14)

RECOGNITION DINNER FOR 4-H LEADERS

A recognition banquet for 4-H club leaders will be held Thursday at the Rustic Rock beginning at 6:30 p.m. and it is expected some 60 to 75 men and women, leaders in 4-H work, will be present.

William Bogart, Extension Youth Agent for Scott and Mississippi Counties, will preside and the guest speaker will be Frank Graham, Extension Youth Specialist from the University of Missouri.

Two appointees of Missouri's new governor were sworn in as members of the State Highway Commission late Tuesday so it will have a quorum of three and can do business.

Jack Stapleton Sr. of Stanberry, a weekly newspaper publisher, becomes chairman. The other new member is A. C. Riley, a cotton planter and banker at New Madrid. Roy Mayes, Sr., of Carthage, a Republican, is the only holdover. There is one vacancy.

Three members of the commission named by Hearnes' Democratic predecessor, John M. Dalton, resigned in December.

When Hearnes designated Stapleton and Riley as replacements, he said he would fill the other vacancy with a man from the Kansas City or St. Louis metropolitan area.

Hearnes plans to ask the Legislature to increase the membership of the commission from four to six. If his proposal is accepted, he said, he will appoint the fifth man from the other metropolitan area and the sixth from northeast Missouri.

Two Sikeston Drivers Had Road Mishaps

Three of the five traffic accidents reported for Tuesday in its 14-county territory by Troop E, State Highway Patrol, took place in this vicinity and two involved Sikeston drivers. There were no fatalities and no injuries.

At 4:20 p.m. Tuesday, the Patrol reports, in Benton on Highway 61, Eula May Winch, 26, of Illinois, drove in front of a car driven by Edith Isabelle Wood, 39, Sikeston and there was a collision. Nobody injured but Eula Winch was charged with failure to yield right of way.

At 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, the Patrol reports, in Scott City on Highway 61, Thebert Lee Metheny, 44, of Oak Ridge, Mo., drove his pickup truck in front of a car driven by James William Ward, 42, of Sikeston. There was a collision but nobody injured. Metheny was charged with failure to yield right of way.

At 8:15 Tuesday, the Patrol reports, in East Prairie, at an intersection, a car driven by Jimmie Dwyer, 24, East Prairie, was hit by a car driven by Mary Hester, 39, East Prairie. No injuries or arrests.

Luxury Liners Tied Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Scheduled sailings of two luxury liners have been canceled as seagoing unions of the American merchant marine supported the longshoremen on strike on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

The seagoing unions called for immobilization of American-flag passenger ships on the two coasts in a show of unity with the International Longshoremen's Association.

Ship companies ordered the sailings canceled Tuesday after the National Maritime Union and the Seafarers International Union announced that their members would refuse to cross the longshoremen's picket lines. All three unions are AFL-CIO affiliates. The NMU and the SIU emphasized that they were not striking.

Other unions in addition to the NMU and the SIU — both of which represent unlicensed ship personnel below officer grade — also have pledged support to the 60,000 striking dock workers.

The two big ships knocked out are the superliner United States, flagship of the United States Lines, which had been scheduled to sail for Europe Thursday with 800 passengers; and the Argentina of the Moore-McCormack Lines, which was to have left New York today with about 180 passengers on an eight-day Caribbean cruise.

The action by the seagoing unions greatly increased the impact of the three-day-old dock strike which is causing an estimated loss of $20 million to $25 million a day to the nation's economy. Up to 200 ships are reported tied up in two score ports.

William B. Rand, president of the United States Lines, said the cancellation of American-flag passenger ship sailings is "an extremely damaging blow to the American merchant marine and the entire shipping industry."

The seagoing unions' announcement came as Thomas W. Gleason, president of the longshoremen's union, was holding a news conference to discuss plans to get a new vote among the 24,000 ILA members in the Port of New York on the proposed contract. The contract was rejected last Friday by a margin of 930 in a vote in which 16,000 members participated.

Gleason, who had urged ratification of the contract, said the union's headquarters will send a letter to every member in New York explaining what he called "the best contract won in union history."

The contract rejection was the main factor triggering the two-week strike.

A scattering of Goldwater men remain on the skeleton-off-year staff, including Charles Lichtenstein, recently named committee research director, and treasurer William Middendorf III.

Bliss was a member of Goldwater's three-man campaign steering committee, which advised the nominee on strategy and mapped his schedules. He was not a pre-convention Goldwater booster.

Police Report 3 Arrests Tuesday

The city police made three arrests on Tuesday. Lewis F. Hux, 202 Daniel, charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace, was placed in the city jail.

James Lloyd Hellwig, Cape Girardeau, charged with auto theft, was turned over to Scott county authorities.

Gary B. Williams, 419 W. Gladys, charged with careless and imprudent driving and failure to have car under control, was given summons to appear in court.

John T. Connor, New Jersey drug manufacturer, was to be secretary of commerce, Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., arranged to have the committee's action reported immediately to the Senate in hopes of confirmation of the nomination before the end of the week.

The President hopes, it is understood, that Connor can take over Friday from retiring Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges.

Connor is Johnson's first cabinet nominee.

A UNIQUE HOBBY BUT A BIT ODORIFEROUS

BISMARCK, N. D. AP — A cache of garbage can lids — apparently stashed away by vandals — has been uncovered by police in Hillside Park.

Home owners were informed Monday and many of the 60 lids picked up Saturday night were reclaimed.

Householders were told later to claim the remainder of the lids because they're unsightly — and smelly.

Considerable cloudiness and turning colder. Occasional snow flurries spreading southeast and ending by afternoon. High to low and mid 30s south. Low around 20 extreme south. Partly cloudy and cold Thursday.

Temperatures will average near to slightly below seasonal normal Thursday through Monday. Normal high in the mid-40s. Normal low in the mid to upper 20s. Precipitation will average around one quarter inch.

High and low yesterday: High and low temperatures for the 24 hours ending at 7:30 a.m. today were 47 and 30 degrees. No precipitation reported.

Sunset today — 5:03 p.m. Sunrise tomorrow — 7:12 a.m. Moonset tomorrow — 4:03 a.m. Full Moon — Jan. 17

Folklores On National TV Sunday

Sunday afternoon, thanks to the talents of five young Sikeston musicians, the whole country will hear about this city when the Folklores of Sikeston, appear on the Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour.

The quintet, four boys and a girl, won honors at the Mid-South Fair in Memphis and on the strength of their showing were invited to come to Miami, Fla., to have their act taped for the Ted Mack Show.

Through the co-operation of many fellow citizens and firms the money to send the group was raised; they went, were taped and will be seen and heard Sunday.

It is urged that every Sikestonian remember to fill out a postcard vote for the Folklores and mail it to "The Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour, P. O. Box 191, Radio City Station, New York City."

If enough people vote the group could win and go on to the next competition. Three wins and they can compete in the national elimination contest to select the best amateur act. Remember to vote. It means a lot to the Folklores and will bring recognition to Sikeston.

John T. Connor, New Jersey drug manufacturer, was to be secretary of commerce, Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., arranged to have the committee's action reported immediately to the Senate in hopes of confirmation of the nomination before the end of the week.

Spells Out Many Recommendations Previously Made

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes asked the legislature today to pass the laws to bring a new day to Missouri.

He spelled out the recommendations he hinted at in his inaugural address Monday. And the new Democratic governor promised full cooperation with the heavily Democratic assembly.

"I have full confidence in your concern and judgment," he said in the message prepared for a joint session of the House and Senate. "I feel you will be a great and imaginative, indeed, a daring legislative body."

For the most part the 12-page message froze into history the recommendations which helped get him elected last November. He said he would have more suggestions for the legislature later.

At the top of the long list he put reapportionment of the legislature itself.

"I do not doubt," he said, "that this will provide the most vexing problems of this session, but this legislature must find ways to accomplish these acts of reapportionment."

He called on the lawmakers to act "in a realistic and statesmanlike manner." He warned that failure to solve the problem by adjournment time June 30 "is to invite chaos and produce results which could be long detrimental to Missouri."

He also asked the assembly to redraw congressional district lines. Both legislative and congressional reapportionment in Missouri were thrown out by federal courts just before the session started.

Bills to carry out the Hearnes plan for legislative redistricting by bipartisan commissions were introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

So was a proposed constitutional amendment to let a governor succeed himself — something Hearnes at 41 would like to do. This is what he said about the issue, which is expected to run into heavy opposition:

"A governor runs on a legislative platform and is held by the public responsible for initiating policy. He is held responsible for expressing the views of the state on new issues arising during the tenure of his office. He should have sufficient time to carry out these policies and programs and the people should have the right to judge the success or failure of a governor."

He said the legislature should submit a constitutional amendment to curb the ban on succession because "the natural choice of the people is far more preferable than any mechanical limitation such as a constitutional restriction."

His predecessor, former Gov. John M. Dalton, also recommended the change.

Like Dalton, Hearnes also said one of the legislature's first acts must be to provide for income tax refunds and interest on them. The last legislature did not provide enough money to make refunds and a big backlog has piled up.

Hearnes also recommended repeal of the present property tax levy of one cent on each $100 valuation. A bill to do that already has been introduced.

The new governor said Missouri now has adequate income to make a tax increase unnecessary.

"But to forego the possibility of further increases in time of crisis, 'I recommend the establishment of a permanent, continuing tax study body to bring soundness to future tax planning and revenue production.'"

Hearnes put his recommendations on education second only after legislative reapportionment. He listed five specific requests:

Expansion of state aid under the school foundation program. Changing the requirements for all general obligation bonds, including school bonds, from a two-thirds to a simple majority vote.

A significant increase in the maximum current levy school districts may set up by majority vote.

Four-year colleges at St. Joseph and Joplin, with the communities paying for the first two junior college years and providing facilities for third and fourth year programs to be financed by the state.

Continuance of residence centers at Malden, West Plains and Independence.

The 1963 legislature passed a bill to set up four year colleges at St. Joseph and Joplin but Dalton vetoed it as premature.

Hearnes proposed two new state agencies — a department of urban affairs as promised in his campaign and one for a new state air conservation commission to solve the problems of air pollution with federal and local aid.

He said he would appoint immediately an administrative assistant for urban affairs to work out a comprehensive plan to deal with urban problems and draft a blueprint for the new state department.

The governor said solution of age-old mental health problems must be the state's goal. He recommended:

Establishment of nine regional diagnostic and treatment clinics for the mentally retarded, as proposed by the Division of Mental Diseases.

Maximum financial support for three new intensive mental treatment centers at St. Louis, Kansas City and Columbia, set up by the 1963 legislature and now under construction.

Higher salaries for workers in the mental health field.

Hearnes told the legislators many improvements must be made to modernize the state's penal system. For now he recommended:

More money for the State Department of Corrections and the Probation and Parole Board.

Emergency bills to increase the salary of the director of corrections from $15,000 a year to $18,300 and the chairman of the parole board from $10,500 to $15,000, with other board members going from $9,000 to $13,000. Both the director of corrections and the parole board have resigned.

Expansion of a state rehabilitation and parole system.

Minimum standards for city and county jail which have no state supervision.

Here is a summary of Hearnes' other recommendations:

Traffic safety — A chemical test law to determine whether a driver is drunk and evocation of his license if he refuses to take the test. Such a bill was introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

Special attention to other recommendations of the interim committee on traffic safety, presented to the Senate Tuesday.

Insurance — An agent qualification law. Improved salaries and larger staff for the division of finance.

Ethics — A strong conflict of interest law to prevent public officials from using their offices for private gain.

A lobby registration law to require all lobbyists to report the sources of the money they spend and how they spend it.

Tourism — "Aggressive state programs in soil and water conservation, forest protection, pollution control, fish and wildlife management and recreational development."

An inter-agency council for outdoor recreation. Hearnes said he would call a governor's conference on this subject soon and appoint a citizens' advisory committee to work with state agencies in this field.

A uniform financial statement for all state agencies to report their money matters to the state treasurer — as called for in a pending Senate bill.

Legislation to require all local political subdivisions to file annual financial statements with the state auditor.

Alternative forms of government for third and fourth class counties. He said this would go a long way toward helping these counties meet their responsibilities. Some are broke now.

Human rights — Prompt enactment of a civil rights law in accord with federal laws which give primary jurisdiction to the (Cont. on page 14)

IT'S A FACT

The recent overwhelming vote in the British House of Commons to abolish capital punishment has again brought this controversial subject into the news. Execution by the state was once a common penalty throughout the world. In England during the 18th century death was decreed for several hundred specific offenses; children were not exempt.

But the trend toward abolition has continued to grow in the peacetime codes of many nations. And in the United States, the death penalty is rarely carried out. Data on the subject was not systematically compiled until 1930. Comparing the period 1930-34 with that of 1956-60, the annual average dropped in the north-eastern states from 31 to 7, in the north central states from 21 to 3, in the southern states from 84 to 36 and in the western states from 19 to 11, in spite of a tremendous population increase, especially in the west.

Although the army and air force carried out 159 executions, 148 of them were during the period 1942-50. One hundred and six were for murder, 52 for rape and one for desertion. The navy has executed no one since 1842.

In Europe the death penalty is found in all communist states, the Balkans, the United Kingdom, Ireland, France and Spain. It has been eliminated in Sweden, Finland, Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, the German Federal Republic, Iceland, Austria, Italy, Portugal and Switzerland.

All African and Asian countries have retained capital punishment except Israel (except for treason and Nazi collaborators) and Nepal. In Australia, only Queensland has abandoned it. New Zealand abolished the death penalty in 1961. In Latin America it has been abolished in Costa Rica, Columbia, Panama, Uruguay, Venezuela, Ecuador, Argentina, Brazil, the Dominican Republic, and in all but eight states of the Mexican federation.

Today's smile: We liked the one about the fellow who consulted a lawyer and, when he had finished outlining the facts of the matter, the attorney said to him: "Well, if you want my honest opinion. . ." The client quickly shut him off with: "No, I want your professional advice."

... procrastination is a fault that most people put off trying to correct.

A plan to facilitate the closing of the New York Stock Exchange in national emergencies has been approved by its Board of Governors. The Exchange's rules have been amended to permit a three-man committee consisting of the Chairman of the Board, the Vice-Chairman and the senior Floor Governor, on a majority vote "to suspend trading in all securities whenever in their opinion such suspension would be in the national interest."

We hope that Governor Hearnes and the 1965 Mississippi Legislature will enact the following:

CONSECUTIVE TERMS FOR GOVERNOR

It is an antiquated limitation which bars a Governor from succeeding himself. The Assembly should lose no time in providing necessary legislation to submit such a constitutional amendment to voters. This recommendation failed in the last Assembly.

A Governor of this state virtually becomes a lame duck as soon as his appointments are made after inauguration. His executive leadership is badly crippled because he will be Governor only a short four years -- scarcely longer than to learn the job. It should, of course, not be applicable to the incumbent in whose term it is passed.

According to an article in Saga magazine written by a retired Army officer, 389 American servicemen captured by Communist Chinese and North Korean forces during the Korean War are still imprisoned in Russia and Red China. It is charged that the U. S. government has done nothing to obtain the freedom of these men since the Korean truce of 11 years ago.

... only a woman can ask you, "Don't turn around -- but who is that couple that just came in?"

One of America's greatest salesmen was Henry J. Heinz, whose "57 Varieties" are known the world over. Like most geniuses he started to work at an early age at what was to become his life's vocation. Heinz peddled vegetables from his family's garden in Sharpsburg, Pa., at the age of 8. He was in business with his own horse and wagon at 12. He started the H. J. Heinz Company a few years later on the premise that a satisfied customer is a continuing one. One of his gimmicks was to package his vegetable products in clear glass bottles so they could be seen. Another of this nation's great success stories.

Did you know that Teddy Roosevelt started "hip" talk? He went to Panama and said, "Dig that canal."

Always read the label when you take medicine from the medicine chest. Then there is no risk of accidentally taking the wrong drug.

In addition to examining and stamping the quality of more than half the Nation's commercial production of beef, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Marketing Service graded almost 150 million pounds of veal and calf and more than 370 million pounds of lamb and mutton.

SCROUNGING QUEMOY PRIEST TELLS IT TO THE MARINES

When it comes to the delicate art of "scrounging," the frail, gray-bearded chaplain of Que-moy Island is a past master.

Franciscan Father Bernard Druetto started simply, according to the Catholic Digest. Taking advantage of the fact that Red China had made his island the most heavily bombed piece of real estate in the world, he collected empty howitzer shell cases, cut off the bottoms and made drain pipes.

Then he "appropriated" empty beer bottles to edge his garden. Liquor bottles did double duty; they held the sacramental wine (which he pressed himself) and served as candlestick holders.

The epitome of his scrounging occurred when he wrangled a plane ride to Okinawa for a salvage sale of U. S. Marine equipment. Noticing that his finances wouldn't cover the mountain of cast-off gear he wished to purchase, the Leathernecks took swift command of the situation. They slyly took up a post-pay-day collection and--by sheer "coincidence"--managed to cover the balance. Including a used jeep for $400.

"Hey, Ma, who's the curly-haired man in this picture?" "That's your father, dear." "Then who's that bald-headed guy in the living room?"

SHARES IN AMERICA'S FUTURE

What is the anticipated future of the securities industry? That's a big and important question in the light of the drive to stimulate capital investment, create new jobs, ultimately abolish poverty, and further raise our living standards. And the New York Stock Exchange has come up with an answer.

If the present trends continue, it foresees that by 1980 there will be 35 million stockholders, as compared with 17 million shown by the latest count; that average daily volume on the Exchange will be eight million shares, as contrasted with the record high of 4,600,000 set last year; and that some 30 per cent of all listed stock will be owned by financial institutions, as against 20 per cent today.

The Exchange is now preparing for this vast expansion. A new ticker system, combined with an automatic communications network, will be in full operation by the end of next year and will make possible the processing of more than 16 million shares a day.

These forecasts are based on past experience and on factual studies. To take one example, the growth in the number of people owning stocks has been striking. The 17 million figure is from a census made in early 1962 and compares with 6.5 million only 10 years earlier. And since 1962 there has been a further increase.

The investor is buying shares in America's future. And when he does that, he expresses faith not only in a company or companies, but in the system we call free enterprise--the system that has given the American people as a whole more material things than any other yet devised by man.

An automatic food waste disposer installed in the kitchen sink reduces work and improves home sanitation.

UNITS OF GOVERNMENT DOWN; WORKERS RISE

Since 1942, four out of 10

governmental units in the United States have been eliminated, notes Tax Foundation, Inc. But those units still in existence in 1962 employed about twice as many workers. If the Federal government is counted as one unit, the number of units has dropped from 155,116 to 91,158. Meanwhile, Federal, state and local civilian employment has risen from 5,915,000 to 9,388,600. The cost of paying them in 1963 was about five times as great as it was--$45 billion--or $242 per American. The Foundation makes this estimate in its forthcoming 13th edition of its biennial publication, Facts and Figures on Government Finance, 1964-65.

A miser isn't much fun to live with - but he sure makes a wonderful ancestor.

OUT OF THE EAST

It seems quite possible that we may get a clearer view from Taipei than from Washington on what goes on in Viet-Nam.

Major General Nguyen Van Phieu, Viet-Namese chief of staff, who has just completed a week's visit in the Capital of Nationalist China, told the press on arrival, for instance, that he had "full evidence" of Red Chinese backing of the Communist Viet-cong in the conduct of infiltration and subversion in Viet-Nam. He also declared that his forces would march into North Viet-Nam to crush the Communist Vietminh regime and reunify all of Viet-Nam "when we deem it necessary." On leaving, General Phieu expressed satisfaction over his discussions with Nationalist Chinese officials on "future Sino-Vietnamese military cooperation." The report from Taipei also noted that the General was received by President Chiang Kai-shek, but gave no further detail.

Even more encouraging, the New Life Daily News of Taipei greeted the appointment of General Maxwell D. Taylor as the new US Ambassador with enthusiasm and declared editorially that this showed "US determination to defend Viet-Nam and Southeast Asia."

"The team of Taylor and U. Alexis Johnson," said the paper, "is a combination of military and political skill probably unmatched in any other US mission abroad. . . Together with Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, who is also new to the top military command, they should constitute a whole of a team."

The editorial concludes that the "triumvirate is a happy omen for showdown with the Communists in Southeast Asia, and we hope, in mainland China, whence run the roots of all aggression in this part of the world."

Such optimistic opinion from the Orient - whence it should be most significant - is as cheering as the dawn after a night of storm. May it be well-founded.

TAX TROUBLES The Internal Revenue department received a return from a bachelor listing one dependent son. The examiner returned the form with the comment: "This must be a stenographic error."

"You're telling me," the man wrote back.

In a study of the fatal accidents that occurred in Missouri during the last New Year's holiday period, which took 24 lives, the Highway Patrol found that 10 of the 16 fatal accidents involved only one car. These 10 one-car accidents took 11 lives and resulted in injuries to 10 people. One pedestrian was included in the toll.

The main causes of the 10 fatal accidents were not adverse weather conditions or one driver forcing another out of control. The main reason for these fatal accidents was driving too fast for conditions and losing control of the car. One driver fell asleep at the wheel. The study by the Patrol also showed that of the 11 people killed in the one-car accidents, five were in their twenties, two were in their teens and the remaining four ranged from ages 57 to 77.

Since over half of the holiday fatal accidents involved only one car under normal driving conditions, the Patrol stated that there is a need for the individual driver to be on the alert, no matter how much "clear sailing" he apparently sees ahead.

"Some people seem to think that to have a serious auto accident two or more cars need to be involved," declared Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, Superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol. "This is not true. All that is needed is one driver making a careless mistake, and an accident can occur."

"A driver should always expect the unexpected," Colonel Waggoner continued. "He must be aware that when he is driving, he controls a great amount of potentially deadly horsepower. When control of a vehicle is even momentarily lost an accident can occur. An unexpected curve in the highway, attempted at an excessive speed, can result in a serious accident."

of the Treasury and Counsel of Internal Revenue.

Humphrey owned 67,555 shares in the M. A. Hanna Co., a holding company which benefited from tax and other treasury policies, and which made a profit for Humphrey of $202,665 in 1956 alone.

Humphrey also owned 20,000 shares in Pittsburgh Consolidation. Its stock in 1953 when Humphrey became Secretary of the Treasury was valued at $126,160,704. When Humphrey got out in 1957, its value was $368,306,250. In other words, it had increased in value $242,145,546 during the period Humphrey was head of the Treasury.

A factor which probably contributed to its increased value was an event which followed a $300,000,000 loan from the export-import bank, whose decision Humphrey as Treasury head, guided, to Brazil. After this loan was granted Brazilian National Steel, 85 per cent owned by the Brazilian government, canceled part of a long standing coal contract with Eastern Fuel and Gas to award a large contract to Pittsburgh Consolidation.

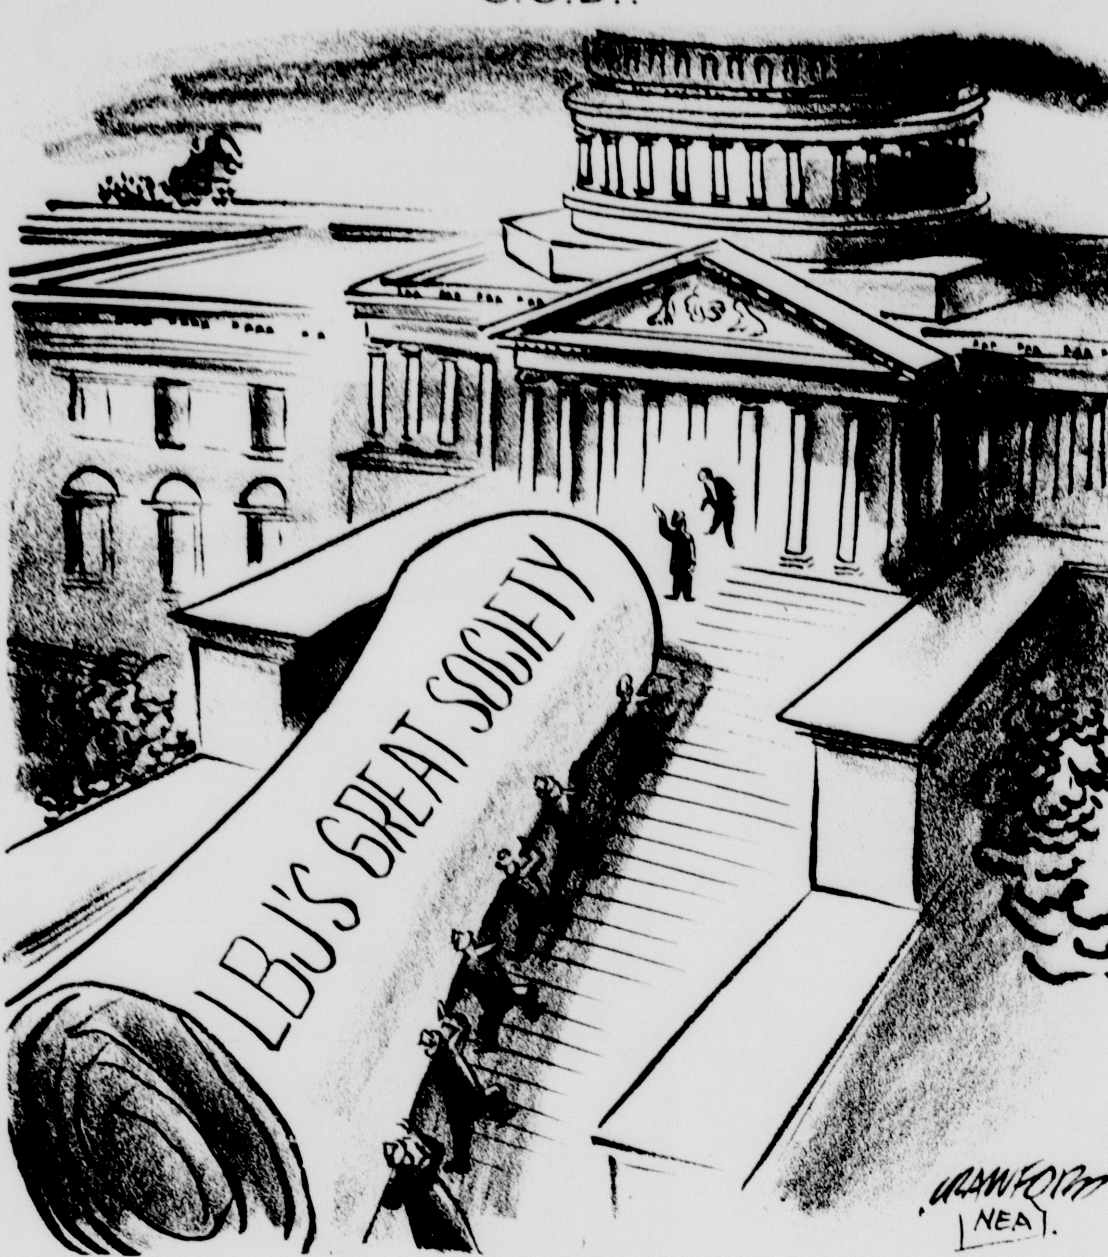

After Humphrey left the Eisenhower cabinet, he became president of National Steel, another affiliate of the M. A. Hanna Co. Its shares had increased in value from $374,758,720 to $481,962,000 during the period Humphrey was in office. He owned 13,200 shares at $50, or $660,000, and kept his stock. He did not even put it in trust during his term in the Treasury.

... JAP'S FIRST TEACHER--

The one person whom President Johnson most wants at his swearing-in, aside from his immediate family, is Mrs. Chester Lowrey, the teacher who taught him in grade school back in Texas.

When Mrs. Lowrey, now living in Rough and Ready, Calif., was reached on the telephone by the White House, she said she certainly wanted to come

"C.O.D.!"

Colonel Waggoner concluded, "There are no perfect drivers. With more cars on the highways, covering more miles each year, the chances for having traffic accidents are greater than ever before. If traffic accidents are to be reduced, drivers must do a better job of driving."

FROM THE MAIL BAG: "I wear a size 12 shoe, and the last pair of slacks I bought had 15 inch bottoms. That means my pants are 7 1/2 inches long at the cuff, and my shoes are 12 inches long, plus! Looks awkward, right? What do I do?" Well, you can't get shorter shoes -- so your only course is to get wider trousers. And you can if you see the manager of your favorite men's store. Such pants are made, and can be obtained without difficulty.

APPLE POLISHER A LOCAL FOURTH grade class acquired a new teacher last week. At the conclusion of the morning session, a little girl who had been sitting in the front row handed the teacher this note:

"Dear Teacher, I think you are going to be wonderful and I already love you." Then she appended this P. S.: "The girl sitting next to me thinks you are a big fat slob."

First Baby: "I wish my mother had never heard of that horrible baby food. It tastes like fermented drift wood!" Second Baby: "Huh! You think you've got it rough! I'm a breast-fed baby and Pop smokes those awful El Ropo cigars!"

"For 20 years my wife and I were deliciously happy." "Then what happened?" "We got married!"

IT KNOCKS ONLY ONCE The car motor vibrated and wheezed and finally came to a stop on a lonely road. "I wonder," mused the sailor, "what that knock is?" "Maybe," the blonde said snuggling up, "it's opportunity."

In the United States the single day's snowfall record goes to Silver Lake, Colorado where 87 inches fell in twenty-seven hours. . . The greatest seasonal snowfall on record, more than 83 feet, was at Mount Ranier National Park in Washington. . . Mount Ranier is also credited with the highest annual snowfall rate in the nation, having an average of 575 inches. . .

The cigarette scare has really gotten to some people. I heard someone describe a coffin as a "flip-top" box.

I'm sure you all know of at least one person who reads the obituary columns daily. This is a story about one such man, Fred Abernathy. All of Fred's friends knew of his habit, so one day they decided to play a trick on him by placing his name and picture in the obituaries.

The following day Fred gets his newspaper, turns to the obituary page, and there he sees his name, his biography, his photo. The poor guy is startled and amazed.

He goes to the phone and rings up his pal, George. "Listen," he says. "Do you have the morning paper? You do? Please turn to the obituary page. You have? What do you see in the second column?"

There's a pause and George says, "Holy smoke! It's you, Fred! It's you all right--Listen, where are you calling from?"

An old Indian was standing on the top of a hill with his son looking at the beautiful valley below them.

TRENDS: The so-called "Wet Look" for foul weather and boating, will be a popular feature for other activities as well, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. The coated finish is being shown in patterned nylon, madras, duck and chambray. Many of the jackets have hoods, and will be seen on the beaches throughout spring and summer--the two best colors in sports outerwear and sweaters, appear to be bright yellow and blue.

TOO MANY WORRIES A vegetable grower during a drought was extremely concerned, and an acquaintance told him that he looked worried. "You're exactly right," the man admitted. "I'm booked solid on worries. Why, I've so many worries on my mind that if anything occurs today, it'll be 10 days before I can get around to worrying about it!"

MARY WAS EDITOR'S CHILD "Mary Had A Little Lamb" is one of the very few so-called "Mother Goose Rhymes" which does not fit into the file labeled "Author Unknown." It was written back in the late 1800's by an American writer named Sara Josepha Buell Hale, who, in addition to immortalizing Mary's fleecy friend, has another claim to fame. She was, for more than forty years, editor of what was probably the first and most famous of all women's magazines, the celebrated "Godey's Lady's Book."

HIS REQUEST A reckless driver was hauled into court for speeding. After a lengthy sermon by the judge, the driver quipped: "Aren't you the elegant one? I'll bet you can recite Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, too?" "I'm proud to say I can," admitted the Judge. "And hereby sentence you to fourscore and seven days in jail!"

The largest child ever born according to medical records was the 23-3/4 pound, 30 inch long son born in 1897 Anna Bates, of Nova Scotia.

Inside Labor

By VICTOR RIESEL

Labor Chiefs Plan to Pressure Banks, Insurance Firms By Threatening to Withdraw Billions of Pension Dollars.

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- In the third floor conference room of labor's national headquarters here a group of men spent last Thursday morning discussing the use of billions of dollars to launch a great white collar unionizing drive.

If this campaign ever gets off the ground it could do more for labor in the sixties than the CIO's marches on Pittsburgh and Detroit did for it in the thirties.

It must be noted quickly, however, that the group of literate and "youngee" labor leaders on the third floor were not taking of spending scores of billions of dollars. They discussed the use of such billions as a pressure weapon with which to convince the banks, brokerage houses, insurance companies, health plans and financial and commodity exchanges to accept unionization of their hundreds of thousands of employees.

Those billions of dollars belong to labor's general treasuries, union operated pension and welfare funds and joint labor-management pension pools, over which labor leaders have considerable influence.

So vast are these monies, they could pay America's bill for more than a year. Contributions to "fringe benefit" plans under existing labor contracts now run upward of $16 billion a year -- and by 1970 will run more than $20 billion annually.

There are thousands of small local unions which have more than $3 million dollars in their tiny pension funds. Dave Dubinsky's ladies garment workers just merged its pension fund into a single operation totaling more than a quarter of a billion dollars.

Much of these billions is shrewdly invested. Huge amounts also stay in cash deposits for regular payments. Union members' insurance -- some with annual premiums of half a million dollars -- is placed regularly with all sorts of companies. There are complicated combinations of investments and cash accounts and health plans and relationships with such outfits as Blue Cross.

Much of these billions is shrewdly invested. Huge amounts also stay in cash deposits for regular payments. Union members' insurance -- some with annual premiums of half a million dollars -- is placed regularly with all sorts of companies. There are complicated combinations of investments and cash accounts and health plans and relationships with such outfits as Blue Cross.

And as in the mid-thirties, the first drive would be a mere scratching of a smooth surface. There are over 30 million white collar workers in the U.S. and some 23 million are in union jurisdictions.

Thus, undiced, a handful of men who have just begun to forage through the computer era may have made history last Thursday. They left to Mr. Crikshank the drawing of the call to action. He will have it ready for the February Florida meeting of the AFL-CIO high command. They will no doubt endorse it. Word will get back to "Wall Street" fast enough. It will be passed on by the many customers, new and old, to the financial institutions now dispatch regularly to labor's mediators.

It is a new day with new types of "billionsaries." The new unionism appears bound to come.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON--Before John T. Connor, the new Secretary of Commerce, arranged to put his Merck Drug Company stock in a trust, he called at the White House to outline the plan to the President, then conferred with LBJ's economic experts.

Connor outlined three main steps he planned to take:

First, he said he planned to resign every connection he had, not only business, but as a trustee of colleges and universities.

"Why are you doing that?" Connor was asked.

"Don't colleges get research contracts from the federal government?" he replied.

"Not from you."

"But they do from some of my colleagues," he said, and stuck by his decision.

Second, he has a clear understanding with Morgan Guaranty Co., his trustee, that they will sell his Merck stock. It will not be sold immediately, since this would break the market, also he would lose about half a million dollars in capital gains taxes. But the stock will be sold.

Third, Connor under no circumstances will know what his money is invested in. He will get a check from Morgan Guaranty Co., once a year, but they will not report to him on any of his investments.

The President's economists plus members of the Senate Commerce Committee concluded that Connor had gone far enough, in fact, much further than certain other cabinet members in avoiding all possible conflict of interest.

OF THE TREASURY--In contrast, Ike's Secretary of the Treasury, George M. Humphrey, refused to sell his stock even though it was directly affected by the taxes the treasury imposed. He argued that the law did not forbid him to own stock and cited his own law firm as authority. Two members of that firm were later made Assistant Secretary

Incidentally, West German women now spend $250 million a year on beauty products, an amount exceeded only by the women of one other country--the United States. The fraufruits and fraufruits pay more for face powder and hair dye than they do for toothpaste and soap.

Turning to the other side of the world, we find another one-time war foe enjoying a prosperous peace: Tokyo now has more investment clubs than New York City.

Flower Show Presented By Garden Club

Meadow Lane Garden Club met Friday, January 9, at the Hunter Memorial Presbyterian Church with eight members present. Club president, Mrs. Ruth Lee conducted routine business at which time reports of various committees were heard and accepted. Mrs. M. H. Davis, general flower show chairman, presented plans for the fall flower show to be held at Sikeston Senior high school, October 9th and 10th. Mrs. E. F. Weidemann previewed next month's program which will be on landscape design. Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Thomas B. Allen and Mrs. Donald Story who served as judges for the "Little Flower Show" for the day. Each member had displayed one or more arrangements within a schedule of four classes. These talented judges pointed out the good and bad points of each arrangement thus making a very profitable meeting.

Mrs. M. H. Davis, vice president of the club, has accepted an invitation to be a guest of the Green Thumb Garden Club in Poplar Bluff to present a program on flower arranging, November 9th. The meeting was adjourned.

Miss England Is Bride Of Gordon Warren

EAST PRAIRIE -- Miss Sharon Jo England, daughter of Mrs. Cash England, became the bride of Gordon Gail Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Forrest of Poplar Bluff on Friday, Jan. 1, at the First Church of God here.

The Rev. J. L. Hatchel performed the double ring ceremony. Candelabra holding white tapers and baskets of white gladioli were altar appointments.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Charles England, wore a suit of white wool. Her headpiece was a pearl and lace crown with white illusion net. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Glenda Givens of Memphis, Tenn., who wore a street-length dress of gold velvet. Lloyd Warren Jr., of Poplar Bluff, served his brother as best man.

Stephen England and Miss Claudia Sterling were candle-lighters.

A reception was held in the church after the ceremony. Blue and white streamers were draped from the ceiling, with wedding bells hanging at several points. The three-tiered wedding cake was served by Miss Eugenia Bell and Miss Raylene Melton. Miss Judy Smith registered guests.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of East Prairie High School, where she is now employed. The bridegroom, a 1961 graduate of Poplar Bluff High School is employed by the Bluff Construction Co. in that city. They are making their home here at 212 Olive street.

ANN LANDERS

Answers your problems

Dear Readers: Well, I've done it again. Started a real doneybrook.

I've had complaints from science writers, poets from physicians, bouquets from the geneticists, questions from non-professionals.

And I've heard from cousins by the dozens... Some damning me, others praising me.

I said, "It is not true that first cousins produce half-witted children. Inheritable physical defects are likely to show up in an offspring when first cousins marry. However normally healthy people need have no fears."

After reading the excellent material sent by Dr. Eric Reiss, chairman of the division of medicine at Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center in Chicago (he's again such a material), I was inclined to send a telegram to those first cousins and tell them not even to look at each other. His letter claimed that among children born to first cousin marriages the incidence of anautotic idiosyncrasy (mental deficiency associated with impaired vision or blindness), for example, is about 15 per cent.

Dr. James Crow, Professor of Medical Genetics and acting dean of the medical school of the University of Wisconsin wrote an equally convincing letter. He claims first-cousin marriages are not particularly hazardous.

"The girl next door, who is no relation whatever, could have deleterious recessive genes," wrote Dr. Crow. "The chance for abnormal offspring when first cousins marry increases roughly from 2 per cent to 3 per cent -- hardly worth worrying about."

And then there is the other side again:

Dr. Samuel P. Bessman, Professor of Pediatric Research and Associate Professor of Biochemistry at the University of Maryland in Baltimore who wrote, "Please accept one bouquet of asafetida for your conveyed advice to the man contemplating marriage to a first cousin. Love does not conquer genetics, as Egyptian royalty, the Hawaiians, the Hapsburgs can attest. The likelihood that a first-cousin marriage will reveal genetic traits present in a family is very great."

A reader from Benton Harbor, Michigan wrote, "I married my first cousin and we have six bright, healthy children. My brother married a girl he met in Europe, during the war. They have four of the nuttiest kids I ever saw."

A geneticist from Washington, D.C. wrote, "If cousins possess especially desirable traits -- traits worth reproducing -- a marriage between these two exceptional people would be desirable. This theory is basic in reproducing thoroughbred horses."

As if this wasn't enough I also heard from lawyers. In my advice to the first cousins I informed them that not all states permit first cousins to marry, so I suggested that if their state does not permit it, they should go to a state that does.

A Chicago attorney wrote, "Your advice suggests that the first cousins can go to another state, marry, and return to their home state and live happily ever after. Well, this is not the case. Their marriage could be considered null and void -- in Illinois, for instance."

So -- my advice to first cousins who are in love and want to marry is this: Look up a couple of doctors and a couple of lawyers, listen to them all, and then determine whose advice you are going to take.

THE BETTING BILLY GOAT: You lose on both counts. He is my first and only husband and he is not a physician.

Rebels Suffer 77-42 Tromp As Bloomfield Rolls On

Victory Is Number Sixteen For Cats

RICHLAND -- The Bloomfield Wildcats tromped out to their 16th victory of the season here last night with a 77-42 defeat over the problem-studded Richland Rebels. Bloomfield's record now comes to 16 wins and 1 loss. The loss was dealt to them by way of the powerful Memphis Kingsbury Falcons. Richland started off the game being tough as nails filling only two short of Bloomfield with the score 10-8. Bloomfield could manage to add only four more points to their lead the second quarter to come in at halftime 25-19. In first half play Richland found little trouble with the Wildcats full court defense and they stayed with them on the boards. Bloomfield got things started hot in the third period, led by Mike Wise who got 13 points and 8 rebounds, as they went zipping out to a 17 point advantage, 47-30, to go into the final frame. The Wildcats continued blasting the Rebels off the court the last quarter, out scoring them 30-12 to gain their 35 point victory. Richland's night wasn't lost however, they came through to win the "B" game 51-28 for their 18th consecutive victory of the season.

Morehouse Strokes Over Bell City

MOREHOUSE -- It was the hot-shooting of Landers and Payne that led the Morehouse Tigers to a 77-65 victory over Bell City here last night. Landers led with 29 and Payne followed with a hot 21. Bell City's Hesselrode continued his one man attack by sticking in 36 tallies to lead all scoring. Hesselrode has been the big gun for Bell City all year. The Tigers popped out to quick nine point lead the first quarter, but Bell City came roaring back to edge within two as first half ended. The third frame proved to be Bell City's undoing as the Tigers roared in from the Intermission to outscore Bell City 19-9. The Cats rallied in the fourth period to score 23 markers, but Morehouse was not to be had, for they stuffed in a blistering 21 themselves. Bell City did salvage the "B" game with a 50-33 performance. Hoosier was the big Cat basket stuffer with 13. Rudeich led Morehouse in their losing cause with 11. How Your March of Dimes Dollar Was Used - 1938-1964

Contributions to the March of Dimes are now dedicated to the fight against birth defects in support of scientific programs that proved their worth by eliminating polio as a public health problem in the United States. With birth defects striking down more of our children than polio ever did, public support of the March of Dimes is needed now as never before.

NATHANIEL DAY (No. 44) is up to hit another two of the 28 scored by him in last night's loss to Howardsville. Day is a bright college prospect.

Scott Central Down Blue Jays 56-53

CHARLESTON -- The Scott Central Braves popped the Charleston Blue Jays with a 56-53 defeat here last night. Centrals attack was blended into two boys. R. Taylor and Kirkwood each dumped in 13. Glenn was high for Charleston with 15, followed close by Brooks with 14. Scott Central got out to an 11 point lead by the end of the third frame. Charleston rallied in the fourth, but the Braves held and came home with the much needed victory. Charleston plastered Central in the "B" game, winning 64-37. Marshall led the Blue Jay assault with 18 big points. Lee was high for Charleston with 15. Varsity Game Scott Central (56) Scorers: R. Taylor 13, O. O'Bannon's Winning Streak Ended

NEW MADRID -- The Howardsville Hawks snapped off the O'Bannon Panthers 11 game winning streak here last night in a 95-90 offensive exhibition. Big boys, Buford Howliet and Nathaniel Day led O'Bannon attack with 30 and 28 respectively. Powell was the high gunner for Howardsville with 25. Howliet and Day are former all "Class S" players. O'Bannon got out to a quick five point lead in the opening minute of play, but Hawks came charging back strong to end first quarter play with the score 24-14 O'Bannon down. Howardsville continued their blistering attack the second frame and plunged out to a 46-35 halftime lead. O'Bannon managed to cut away 6 of the 11 that they trailed by the last half, but the Hawks displayed fine clutch shooting to retain the victory. Glasper and Freeman led Howardsville to the double take with 24 points each in traveling to their "B" team's 77-75 thrilling win. White led the Panthers with 26, followed by teammate Brooks with 20.

TOM MASTERSON has a big one on his hands with this boy. The match was lost, but it was quite a mis-match being that Tom weighs 185 and Hitt weighs 217.

Airman McGee Gets Award for Being Neat and Tidy

MOREHOUSE -- An Airman was apprehended last week by the Bolling USAF base commander in the vicinity of the base library for "Action Be coming an Airman."

A/3C Ellis (Sonny) Agee, assigned to the USAF honor guard, was walking back to his squadron area from the base exchange when he saw paper blowing off a passing truck. Without hesitation he picked up the paper and started toward the trash receptacle on the corner. Enroute, he spotted another piece of paper and had just picked it up when a staff car pulled alongside him and stopped. Agee was unable to see who was in the car and started to open the door to see who wanted to talk to him. Inside the car was Bolling Commander Col. Frank E. Marek who asked, "What is your name, Airman?" Agee answered the questions, wondering what he had done wrong to be questioned by the base commander. The Colonel thanked Agee for picking up the paper, stating, "There should be more Air-

Can Use State Tax Table in Filing 1964 Income Taxes

Missouri taxpayers may use a state sales tax table as a guideline when filing their 1964 federal income tax returns. Mr. E. O. Bookwalter, District Director of Internal Revenue said the table is now available.

The table shows the average amount of state sales tax paid by Missouri residents and may be used by taxpayers who itemize their federal income tax deductions. Similar tables have been prepared for 36 other states and the District of Columbia.

For the first time since 1960 when the tables were originally issued there has been a general revision of the amounts Mr.

The new tables omit the state sales tax on automobiles purchased, thus providing a uniform treatment of this item for all states. Now taxpayers who purchase an automobile may add the sales taxes paid on the purchase to the amount shown on the sales tax tables. The new tables, however, are a more accurate measure of the average sales tax paid in the various states.

Internal Revenue reminds taxpayers that these tables are not required to be used. They are furnished as a guide for the convenience of taxpayers who itemize deductions of their federal income tax returns but who wish to use a "standard" amount for state sales tax which will not require detailed substantiation. Taxpayers have the choice, of course, of deducting the actual amount of state sales tax paid.

Joint Interim Committee Makes 19 Recommendations Concerning Traffic Safety

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A joint interim committee of the Missouri Legislature Tuesday made 19 traffic safety recommendations, including chemical tests for those suspected of driving while intoxicated.

The committee on Traffic Safety and Uniform Motor Vehicle Laws said a law should be enacted establishing the chemical test and making the motorist's use of the highways imply his consent for the test. "The driver should be permitted to refuse the test but such refusal, without good cause, should result in the revocation of his driver's license," the committee recommended.

Both former Gov. John M. Dalton and Gov. Warren E. Hearnes have suggested some form of test for driver intoxication. Bills establishing a chemical test have failed in recent sessions of the legislature.

The committee, headed by Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, also recommended increasing the minimum amount of personal injury liability insurance from $5,000 for each injury and $10,000 for total injuries in one accident to $10,000 and $20,000, respectively.

Another recommendation would impose a 40-mile-an-hour minimum speed limit for all vehicles on interstate highways. It also would impose a maximum speed limit for all trucks over 12,000 pounds on all highways.

Bills covering the committee's recommendations were introduced in the Senate today.

The committee urged a law requiring periodic mechanical inspection of motor vehicles under supervision of the state patrol. Such bills have died several times in the legislature.

The committee suggested requiring drivers to take vision examinations when renewing their licenses. The examinations would be financed by increasing the operator's license fee from the present $1 to $2 and the chauffeur's license fee from $3 to $10.

Other recommendations included laws to:

- Require a driver to dim his headlights when following within 300 feet of another vehicle.
- Require every vehicle to have at least two tail lights.
- Enact a uniform traffic ordinance which could be adopted by municipalities.
- Provide for issuance of two license plates for each vehicle after 1967.
- Adopt the Uniform Vehicle Safety Equipment Compact, making Missouri a party to the nationwide interstate compact established to review and approve vehicle safety equipment.
- Increase truck lengths and heights to the standards proposed by the National Association of State Highway Officials.
- Require registration of motor vehicles within 30 days after their purchase and provide for a fine of $5 a month for failure to do so.
- Permit an enforcement officer to arrest motorists for misdemeanor traffic offenses not committed in his presence. This would legalize use of speed checks by one and radar.
- Place jurisdiction of traffic offenses in state or municipal courts.
- License and regulate used auto parts dealers.

MACLIN'S WEAPONS -- A police officer examines the weapons found in the car of attorney Robert Maclin, who is being held in the Fort Worth, Tex., jail on a charge of assault with intent to murder in the shooting of an investigator assigned to guard the home of District Attorney Doug Crouch. Maclin is charged with shooting Earl Sanford in a pre-dawn gun battle in front of Crouch's home in Fort Worth. (NEA TELEPHOTO)

Measures which I have joined in putting before the upper house of Congress include the following:

Hospital Care for the elderly under Social Security was again introduced by Senator Anderson, myself, and other Senators. Given top Administration priority, as reflected by its number of S.I., I believe this bill is an essential measure in assuring older Americans of a dignified manner of financing their hospital expenses.

A National Economic Conversion and Diversification Commission would be established by a bill that I joined with Senator McGovern in introducing. The commission would help meet the human and economic problems resulting from changing defense needs and changing defense expenditures.

Amendments to the Water Pollution Control Act, which I joined in introducing, would increase the benefits that this measure has meant for so many communities in Missouri and across the Nation.

A Resolution on Presidential Succession, put before the Senate by Senator Bayh, myself, and other Senators, provides for filling the office of Vice President if the need should arise, and sets up a means of determining Presidential inability.

An Amendment to the Water Research Act would increase the authorization of Federal funds for water research at institutions across the country.

Tax Relief for Higher Education is similar to a bill of my own that I introduced in the 88th Congress. This measure, which I am co-sponsoring with Senator Ribicoff, amends the Internal Revenue Code to give tax credit for parents who have children in college.

The Cold War G. I. Bill would make available education and other benefits to veterans of the armed forces who entered the service after January 31, 1955.

The 1965 Presidential Inaugural Committee advises me that an illustrated souvenir program of the upcoming inauguration activities is now available.

This 48-page official program of events, containing color photographs and articles by nationally-known writers, may be obtained at a cost of $1.25 from the Inaugural Committee, Program Division, 6th and Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20025.

Final planning for the Inaugural is in full swing. Scores of Missourians have indicated they plan to be here to witness the swearing in of President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey. Assisting in preparations for the Inaugural are my administrative assistant and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Miles, who are on the floor committee and will be among the hosts and hostesses for the Ball at the Shoreham Hotel.

Specialist Says Overweight Can Cause Heart Attacks

CHICAGO (AP) — Are you a prime candidate for a heart attack? One way to tell, says a specialist, is to put a tape measure around your waist. If you're male and measure more than 32 inches, or female and exceed 26, the answer is yes.

Dr. Richard C. Bates of Michigan State University says every inch beyond 32 or 26 means five pounds overweight. And overweight, said Bates, can cause heart attacks.

But in his talk to a luncheon club Tuesday on "How to Have a Heart Attack," Bates said skinnier persons shouldn't smirk.

Slender persons suffer just as many heart attacks as does the more robust group — but not so many of the fatal kind, he said.

Weight is just one factor that causes heart attacks, said Bates, a specialist in internal medicine.

Two-pack-a-day smokers, for example, have twice as many heart attacks as non-smokers, he said.

He said there is no evidence that alcoholics have either more or fewer heart attacks than teetotalers.

"They just die of cirrhosis (an inflammatory liver ailment)," he said.

Dr. Bates said that although Swedish people have levels of cholesterol in their blood as high as Americans, they have fewer heart attacks.

It is presumed, he said, that the difference is in the amount of exercise. The Swedes have fewer automobiles and probably not as many self-driving watches, Bates said.

Bates told of an experiment with chickens, the only fowl which can be induced to lay down fatty deposits in their arteries such as human heart attacks victims do.

Experiments have shown, he added, that this tendency can be halted in fat hens by keeping them in a nervous state by introducing a new rooster to the flock every day.

Graham Blasts Supreme Court on Re-apportionment

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Thomas D. Graham, speaker of the Missouri House of Representatives, charged today "The Supreme Court of the United States" sweeping decisions involving state legislative apportionment are perhaps the most blatant usurpations of constitutional power in the history of our country.

Graham, Cole County Democrat who had just been elected speaker for a third straight term, took the occasion of his election to blast the court.

"The United States Supreme Court is no longer above politics," he said. "It is in politics. It is fundamental to our government that lawmaking powers rest with the legislative branch. The concept that nine men appointed for life and not responsible to my electorate, have any legislative authority in our government is so destructive of democracy that it threatens the survival of our political system."

"If citizens of both parties do not unite to force the court back to its proper functions, the Constitution is dead and so is freedom."

"The most horrifying picture I can imagine is that of our children having to battle tomorrow for liberties that we let slip away today."

As he has before, Graham recommended that the legislature delay until June 1 before completing reapportionment ordered by the federal courts.

That, he said, would give Congress time to enact legislation upstaging the federal court edicts.

He also told House members some of the things he hoped could be accomplished by this session.

He urged an improved educational program focussed on "quality rather than quantity," the promotion of Missouri's industry and commerce, no tax increases and adequate office space for all legislators.

Democrats Have Beefed up Their Control of the House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats have beefed up their already substantial control of House committees, placing themselves in a stronger position to push President Johnson's legislative program.

The most sweeping revision of House committee makeup in 25 years especially brightens Democratic prospects for health care, education and immigration measures.

With the single exception of the Rules Committee, which continues to be made up of 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans, the Democrats in control of the House dealt themselves bigger shares of committee strength.

The outnumbered Republicans went along, grateful at least that none of their members who were re-elected will have to lose a committee assignment in the shakeup.

The decisions were made Tuesday at a bargaining session described by House Democratic and Republican leaders as amicable.

A key decision was to change the ratio of the Ways and Means Committee from 15 Democratic and 10 Republican members to 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans.

This appeared virtually to ensure — if any further assurance should be necessary — that the committee will approve some sort of health care plan for the aged related to Social Security.

The committee had been the graveyard of Social Security health care plans, consistently opposed by all the Republicans, and by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and enough other Democrats to make up a majority.

Mills has indicated he would be amenable to a compromise version in which taxation for health care and for the traditional Social Security benefits would be kept separate.

The Appropriations Committee, divided 30-20 with Democrats in control since 1951, now will have a 34-16 ratio.

Give Program For Assistance To Taxpayers

The Taxpayer Assistance Program for the forthcoming filing period January 4, 1965 through April 15, 1965 in the St. Louis District was announced today by E. O. Bookwalter, District Director.

The instruction booklet which you received with your tax return form has been designed to answer most of your Federal tax questions. Individuals are urged to use the instruction booklet first; then if they do not find the answer to their problem, they may call the nearest Internal Revenue Office.

Also, new editions of tax guides that are now available are "Your Federal Income Tax" ($.50), "Tax Guide for Small Business" ($.50), "Depreciation Guidelines" ($.30), "Farmer's Tax Guide" (Free), and others relating to several specific tax areas.

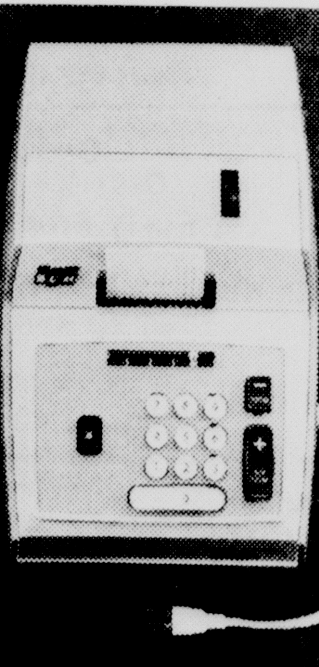

Telephone Assistance at the St. Louis Headquarters Office located in the U. S. Court & Customs House Building, 1114 Market Street, is available Monday through Friday by calling MAIn 2-4081 and asking for tax information. Also personal assistance, if needed, will be available on Mondays and Fridays in the Lower Level of this building.

Telephone Assistance at the Kansas City Branch Office located at the U. S. Court House, 811 Grand Avenue, is available Monday through Friday by calling BAItimore 1-7000. Also personal assistance, if needed, will be available on Mondays in Room 907 in the Court House.

Telephone assistance and personal assistance will be available on Friday only at: Cape Girardeau, Himmelberger-Harrison Bldg., Ed5-3932; Poplar Bluff, 213 S. Broadway, Su 5-3910; Kennett, 711 First St., Tu 8-2782.

Memo from Benjamin Plotinus, Chairman, English Department, to Coach Musselman: Remembering our discussions of your football men who are having troubles in English, I have decided to ask you, in turn, for help. We feel that Paul Spindles, one of our most promising scholars, has a chance for a Rhodes Scholarship, which would be a great thing for him and for our college. Paul has the academic record for this award but, ideally, should have a good record in athletics, too. Paul is weak. He tries hard, but he has trouble with sports. We propose that you give some special consideration to Paul as a varsity player, putting him, if possible, in the backfield of the football team. In this way, we can show a better college record to the committee deciding on the Rhodes Scholarships. We realize that Paul will be a problem on the field, but, as you have often said, cooperation between our department and yours is highly desirable, and we do expect Paul to try hard. His work in English Club and on the debating team will force him to miss many practices, but we need to see that he carries an old football around to bounce (or whatever one does with a football) during intervals in his work. --William E. Stanford.

NO COMMENT-- Lambertus N. Palar, left, Indonesia's ambassador to the UN, is shown at Los Angeles International Airport on a stop-over en route to his home country. Asked by newsmen about his country's announced intention to pull out of the UN, Palar put his fingers to his mouth several times in a sign to indicate he had no comments to make. (NEA TELEPHOTO)

Urges Caution in Changing Bond Voting Requirement

Caution should be exercised in changing Missouri's requirement that two-thirds of those voting on local government bond issues must approve before general obligation bonds can be issued, Missouri's Public Expenditure Survey said in a report issued today.

the legislature. The Survey said that voters make a different kind of decision on local bond issues from most others they make. Most decisions, it said, consist of passing judgment on candidates, tax levies and other referendum issues, the terms of which usually run two to four years, which permits these decisions to be changed or reaffirmed in subsequent elections as circumstances dictate.

But, the Survey said, most bond issues are sold for repayment over a 20-year period and thus constitute irrevocable, long-term commitments, backed by the full faith and credit of the political subdivisions, and not subject to change at subsequent elections.

All states place restraints on the incurrence of local bonded indebtedness, the Survey reported. Historically, over-extension and default of local debt resulted in these restraints being imposed, the Survey said.

The Survey listed six kinds of restrictions, which, it said, are used in many combinations among the states. These include: Size of majority vote required, requiring participation of 40 per cent or more of eligible voters, requiring that voters participating in such elections be property-owners, requiring authorization by legislature, requiring approval of a state supervisory agency, and limiting the total amount of debt which can be incurred.

The Survey said it described provisions of other states because conclusions seemed to be widely drawn that Missouri should base its decision on what other states require. The primary consideration, the Survey said, should be what is appropriate for Missouri.

The Survey said authorities hold that it is impossible to rank states in terms of the restrictiveness of their legal provisions governing local government debt. The Survey pointed out that Missouri's two-thirds requirement applies to all of the state's 3,200 political subdivisions. These include 114 counties, 344 townships, 81 municipalities, about 1,300 school districts, 5 junior college districts, 487 road districts, 107 drainage districts, 59 levee districts, 29 fire districts, 5 water supply districts and 6 sewer districts.

Bond issues have been voted by all of these types of political subdivisions in recent years, the Survey said. It added that many of the political subdivisions overlap each other. In many areas of the state, overlapping political subdivisions have aggregate authority to incur debt up to 50 per cent of assessed valuation, the Survey said.

The Survey reported that over the last 20 years, voters of Missouri local governments have issued more than $1 billion in general obligation bonds. The volume of bonds approved has risen from an average of $16.7 million a year in the first five years of the period to $78.2 million a year the last five years.

In a sampling of recently approved bond issues, the Survey found that on the average 33 per cent of those eligible to vote did so. Since two-thirds of 33 per cent is 22 per cent, this means, the Survey said, that a small minority of less than one-fourth can, and often does, make the decision under the present two-thirds requirement.

The Survey pointed out that two-thirds and other extraordinary majorities are utilized in reaching various decisions in local, state and federal governments and in standard rules of meetings.

The Survey said the purpose of its report was to present information that would contribute to a sound decision on the constitutional issue of changing the two-thirds requirement. While counseling caution, the report did not make a recommendation as to what majority should be required.

VETERAN COTTON PICKER

He's sixty-four; next year he'll quit. And draw his well-earned 'SS' bit-- But now he wouldn't care to stop. He dally dumps white gold atop The bulging trailer, sack-by-sack, ignores his aching legs and back. And grabs the fluffy bolls 'like mad'. Remembering all the years he's had.

Sometimes the harvest was so lean, This tolling picker had to glean For 'pittance' wage--nor felt defeat; He took the bitter with the Sweet. He knew no other trade or 'skill.' (This was a way; He had the will.) He'd met his family's demands, With his own cotton-pickin' hands!

His pick-sack makes a seat, to rest. And meditate. But: 'I'll be blest, If that contraption being wheeled Down through the turn-row to this field. Ain't sure that great, big red machine That can pick cotton--but not clean!' He lunges up! He's in the mood To show that 'picker' up--but good! --Agnes Collins

Ancient British Wassail is Conducted in Apple Orchard

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—You could almost hear the evil spirits jump for joy when the British consul general's shotgun went click instead of boom.

"It was very embarrassing," Ronald Wilby said Thursday. Wilby had come to this American apple center to help growers participate in the wassail rite celebrated each Twelfth Night. A similar ceremony is held in Carhampton, Somerset, England.

Following a custom established in 1400, Wilby opened the festivities by dipping a piece of toast in hot cider and placing it in a special apple tree to placate the birds.

Then he recited these words: Here's to the old apple tree, Whence thou mayest bud Whence thou mayest bow Whence thou mayest send me apples enow.

Hatfuls, capfuls, three-score bushelfuls.

And my pocketsfull too. Then, Wilby solemnly aimed a specially painted shotgun into the branches to scare away the evil spirits.

Click went the fowling piece. "Is this cocked?" I asked them," Wilby said.

Twice more he tried. Each time there was only a click. "Finally, I just said 'bang' and we were held to have done a proper job."

The celebrants moved on to more festive parts of the ancient Saxon ceremony, including drinking hard cider from a silver wassail bowl. The bowl will be shipped to Eric Barr, proprietor of the Butcher's Arms Inn in Carhampton, where the ceremony originated.

The rite was imported to America after Maurice Heland, a Yakima newspaperman, attended the Carhampton version in 1957.

Despite the misfire, Wilby, assigned to Seattle, said he had been assured next year's crop would be a good one.

Yakima growers hope he is right. They already have had their share of bad luck this season, including a near-record cold that damaged some orchards.

Armed Forces

James M. Coleman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Technical Sergeant James M. Coleman, son of Mrs. James A. Coleman of 314 Daniel St., Sikeston, Mo., has completed the special U. S. Air Force recruiter course at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Sergeant Coleman, whose previous assignment was at Luke AFB, Ariz., will be an official Air Force recruiter at Chicago. He was selected for the special assignment as a volunteer with an outstanding military record.

The sergeant was trained in 11 areas of study, including the Air Force job classifications system, testing procedures and community relations to broaden his qualifications for presenting the facts of Air Force career opportunities to young men and women.

Sergeant Coleman is a graduate of Sikeston High School. His wife, Elizabeth, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oris Howes of 4913 Hagemann, Kansas City, Kan.

SAIGON, Viet Nam—Captain Robert G. Thorpe, whose father, George W. Thorpe, resides at 832 Briar Lane, Beloit, Wis., has been awarded the U. S. Air Force Air Medal for meritorious achievement during aerial flight in support of the fight against communist aggression in Viet Nam.

Captain Thorpe, a C-123 pilot, is on duty with a unit of the Pacific Air Forces which provide airpower for defense of the U. S. and its allies in the Pacific and Far East areas. The captain flies with Vietnamese Air Force crews to assist and advise them on combat

Polio Almost Vanished from This Country

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Polio has almost vanished from the United States within a scant decade in one of medicine's most dramatic triumphs over an ancient scourge of mankind.

"It is apparent that with a continued effort to vaccinate the yet unreachd young people and the newborn babies, we can eliminate poliomyelitis as a public health problem in this country in the near future," a government agency reports.

That is a statement from the Communicable Disease Center of the U.S. Public Health Service. It comes only 10 years after Salk vaccine opened the way to conquer polio.

The statistics behind that statement are even more impressive.

It was in 1952 that crippling polio reached a terrible peak in the United States. That year 57,879 persons fell victim to the disease, 3,145 died and nearly 20,000 were left with the crippling effect of polio.

Last year there were only 121 persons stricken in the entire nation. Fewer than 10 died and far less than 100 had paralytic after-effects.

Ten years ago, Dr. Jonas F. Salk provided the first break in the fight against polio with his vaccine. This was buttressed six years later by Dr. Albert Sabin's vaccine.

Medicine thus found the key to a disease that had killed and maimed long before its cause was known — perhaps as long ago as 1400 B.C. Polio had been a vague, mysterious malady until 1840 when Dr. Jacob Heine, a German bone specialist, described its nature.

In 1902, an Austrian immunologist, Karl Landsteiner, proved that the disease resulted from a minute virus. Then three Harvard bacteriologists, John F. Enders, Frederick C. Robbins and Thomas H. Weller, developed a process for growing the virus in tissue cultures.

That made possible the development of the vaccines and the phenomenal victory over polio in the United States.

But the danger is never over. Dr. Pierce Gardner, chief of the polio surveillance unit at the CDC, warned that approximately four million babies born each year must be vaccinated promptly. He said poorly immunized persons must be found and vaccinated.

PAUL W. HILL, right, receives an American flag from Capt. W. A. Pardee as Hill, a senior chief quartermaster of the Navy, retires from active duty.

CPO Paul Hill Retired from 28 Years Navy

Paul W. Hill, retired USN senior chief quartermaster, now associated with the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co., of Fort Wayne, Ind. is making his home in Sikeston where he was on duty for some time as a recruiting officer for the Navy.

When he retired on Dec. 1, 1964, Mr. Hill had the unique experience that comes only to those retiring from Naval service, an account of which was published in the Service paper of Woodriver, Ill.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hart returned home Monday from the Doctor's Hospital in Poplar Bluff where she had been a medical patient for nine days.

as follows:

"Senior Chief Quartermaster Paul W. Hill, U.S. Navy, was piped over the side from the USS Mississippi (AO-105) with his fellow CPOs acting as side-boys to end a Navy career of almost 28 years of active duty. During his career, a great deal of which was spent at sea, Chief Hill served aboard many types of ships.

His first and last ships were oilers based in Long Beach. He reported aboard USS Brazos (AO-4), in 1937 as a seaman second class for deck duty. Twenty-eight years later he left USS Mississippi a master of his trade.

World War II saw him stationed aboard a sub chaser and a mine sweeper in the Pacific theater.

In 1944 Hill made chief petty officer. Since that time he has served aboard destroyers and ammunition ships and has also had several tours of recruiting duty. His last duty station aboard the fleet oiler Mississippi included a tour of the western Pacific with stops at Pearl Harbor, the Japanese ports of Yokosuka, Sasebo, Hiroshima and Hakodate, the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong, and Subic Bay in the Philippines.

Chief Hill will reside at 535 Carroll Ave., Sikeston, Mo., with his wife, Helen, upon retirement from the Navy.

A limited number of Boy Scouts and Explorers from the Southeast Missouri Council, Boy Scouts of America, will join Scouts from some 80 countries for the 12th World Scout Jamboree to be held in the United States in 1967.

The last world jamboree held in Greece in 1963.

At about four years of age, feathers of the bald eagle's head become shining white, giving it a bald appearance.

Government Spending Plan To Be Revealed

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal government's new spending plans will be revealed piecemeal in coming days and weeks as presidential messages pepper Capitol Hill. The total may be impressive.

But businessmen are noting that federal spending in itself added little impetus to the economic activity that burgeoned for other reasons in 1964. They doubt if federal outlays will increase enough this year to play much of a role in keeping the economy growing faster.

Bankers think Washington's monetary policies will have a bigger part, both in stimulating business and in affecting confidence, than the size of the U.S. budget, or of total federal spending, which is always greater than the formal budget.

State and local spending has climbed steadily, and will continue to do so. This will feed the economic growth in 1965, as it notably has since 1962. But federal spending has gone up fairly sedately, even if the mix among the defense and civilian projects sometimes varied markedly.

Treasury fiscal policies, however, already are affecting confidence in the banking and investment world. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York notes today that Treasury plans for a major refunding this month had a large part in quieting American jitters caused by signs of weakness in the British pound sterling and increased buying of gold on the free market.

Announcement that holders of $33 billion of eight outstanding issues of government securities would be given the chance to trade them in for three issues of longer maturity — and more generous interest rates — quickly improved the tone of the money market, the bank says.

Treasury calm, it explains, made investors feel that "the sterling situation must be less threatening than had been feared." By going ahead this month with business as usual the Treasury was saying that the U.S. economy is strong and getting stronger. Future moves by the Treasury in handling the federal debt also can either bolster confidence or put a rein on it.

Handling of the U.S. Treasury deficit, as new budget proposals will soon show, can also affect business confidence. The expectation is that the deficit will continue as almost a Treasury fixture, but that it won't be increased or decreased very much.

Q—What is the dragon tree?

A—An ancient tree, native to the Canary Islands, with dark red resin called dragon's blood. It resembles a mushroom in shape.

How can a broadcast spreader cause hidden hunger in corn?

Take a handful of pea gravel. Put it in a bucket. Add a handful of sand. And another of dust. Shake it up. Blend it well. Throw it out. What landed where?

Now — think a minute. What kind of feeding would your crop get if the pea gravel were your phosphate... the sand, your potash... and the dust, your nitrogen?

See now why Swift "fuses" plant food ingredients. Your plants get balanced, even feeding. This means consistent high yields and lower plant food cost per unit of yield.

Come in & inspect our product that is Chemically fused.

I'm sure you will agree this process will insure an even free flowing distribution of plant food even in a broadcast spreader.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, Jan. 13, the 13th day of 1965. There are 352 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1733, James Oglethorpe and about 130 new colonists landed at Charles Towne—now Charleston, S.C.
On this date: In 1813, Horatio Alger, whose rags to riches stories set a pattern of life for American youth, was born at Revere, Mass.
In 1864, composer Stephen Foster died in New York.
In 1935, the residents of the Saar Territory voted to return to Germany.
In 1942, Donald Nelson was named chairman of the War Production Board.
Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower asked Congress for an extension of the Selective Service System.
Five years ago—Antoine Pinay, largely credited with France's postwar economic recovery, resigned from the cabinet.
One year ago — President Johnson sent Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to Indonesia to discuss with President Sukarno his nation's hostility to Malaysia.

Controversial Fighter Plane Makes History

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The controversial TFX biservice fighter plane made aviation history when it successfully changed the position of its variable-sweep wings during an hour flight Wednesday.
The plane's design enables it to have its wings outstretched almost straight for added lift and short takeoffs, then sweep them back to reduce drag for supersonic speeds.
Never before had a plane utilizing the retractable wings performed so well in the effort to solve the problem of incorporating short takeoffs and landings with high speed into a single aircraft.
Pilot R. L. Johnson and copilot Val Pahl flew the TFX, designated the F111 by the Air Force, on its second flight Wednesday at an altitude of 10,000 feet, then moved the wings from their forward position of 16 degrees back to the full swept angle of 72.5 degrees.
This test was at a speed of about 400 knots—approximately 450 miles per hour, Johnson said on the third flight, not yet set, the TFX will attain supersonic speed.
The plane is designed to reach 2.5 times the speed of sound, approximately 1,600 m.p.h.
Johnson said the multipurpose jet cleared its primary hurdles with "one minor exception." He said several minor stability tests could not be performed because at one point the one engine developed a slightly high temperature and erratic fuel flow.
On its maiden flight the TFX pilots experienced trouble with the flaps. This was corrected the next day by General Dynamics engineers.
The second flight was 24 days ahead of the Defense Department's deadline. Frank W. Davis, president of General Dynamics' Fort Worth operation, said the TFX contract was the first to include an incentive and penalty clause. It was learned unofficially that the incentive bonus to General Dynamics will exceed $800,000.

WASTED POWER
He snores to the rafters, he snores to the roof.
By our vibrating house I've got plenty proof;
He expounds enough energy to propel a ship,
And it all comes noisily out from his lip!
Two walls between us can't silence the steam,
That threatens my sleep with its fitful dream —
Would that someone harness this wasting power,
'Twould give his poor wife a restful hour...

Swedish doctor Sven Forssman presented a report on intelligence tests showing equality in brainpower between males and females and rebuff of the traditional assumption that women are physiologically better qualified than men for certain jobs such as nursing or assembly line work. What is more some working women of our nation are lending practical support to Dr. Forssman's findings. Among them are the women railroad workers, baggage handlers, truck drivers, glaziers, plumbers, undertakers, doctors, dentists, lawyers, engineers, and even politicians.

Working women should take note of two economic facts. Last year, everyone working an eight-hour day, put in two hours and 21 minutes to pay can do a new hat and hair-taxes. A further burden has do at the same time.

ond preference would continue to go to unmarried children of U.S. citizens, third preference to spouses and children of aliens in the United States.

The new bill would abolish the ban against the mentally retarded or aliens with histories of mental illness. Such persons could be admitted if they are close relatives of U.S. citizens or aliens previously admitted.

The law also would eliminate the requirement that aliens seeking first preference already have jobs lined up in this country. And it would grant partial preference for the first time to aliens who could fill certain labor shortages here. The old law requires immigrants seeking preference because of their skills to meet rigorous standards as specialists.

New Madrid Local Stocks Wins 52-41

MATTHEWS -- The Matthews Pirates suffered their first loss of 1965 here last night as they went down to the New Madrid Indians 52-41. This moves the Pirates to a 7-5 record for the season.

New Madrid got out to a small four point lead the first quarter and managed to increase it to eight as the halftime buzzer sounded.

The Indians came out from the intermission to add four more to their lead to give them a 12 point bulge.

Larry Glenn led the Indian assault with 12 markers. Arthur McCoy was the big Pirate scorer with 14. Matthew's ordinarily big point maker, Schuering, was held to five point production.

Matthews won the "B" game 36-27. Larry Clark led the Pirates with 7. Stowe was high for the losers with 6.

HEARNES ASKS NEW DAY FOR STATE

Johnson Asks Changes in Immigration Law

Based on Skill, Not Origin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed a sweeping new immigration law to Congress today. It is based on an immigrant's skill and his family ties in the United States. It would do away with the 40-year-old national-origins quota system. Johnson called the quota system "incompatible with our basic American tradition."

Instead, immigrants would be selected on a first-come, first-serve basis, within a system of preferences based on work and cultural skills and family unity.

The bill is virtually identical to one proposed in 1963 by President John F. Kennedy. Johnson urged Congress today to give the revived bill priority consideration.

He said the proposed law "both serves the national interest and continues our traditional ideals."

"No move could more effectively reaffirm our fundamental belief that a man is to be judged — and judged exclusively — on his worth as a human being," the President said.

The bill, he said, would maintain safeguards against undesirable and excessive immigration, require all immigrants to meet U.S. security requirements, and ensure that no immigrants "could contribute to unemployment in the United States."

Unemployment figured strongly in one of the first congressional comments on the President's proposals.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said "I don't think we ought to let this country get flooded with immigrants. We've got enough of an unemployment problem as it is." He is a member of the immigration subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., promptly announced he would introduce a bill to carry out Johnson's recommendations and would ask for early Judiciary Committee hearings.

"The quota system should have been changed years ago," Hart said.

An administration source estimated passage of the law eventually would increase the average number of immigrants from 300,000 to 350,000 — including those not subject to numerical restrictions, such as those coming from Western Hemisphere countries.

It would eliminate an old provision — the so-called "Asia-Pacific triangle" — that discriminates against persons of Asian ancestry by forcing them to apply under the quota of their country of ancestry even if they have lived for generations in a non-Asian nation.

The provision would be abolished immediately — even though the new bill would prescribe gradual elimination of the whole quota system over five years.

The Kennedy immigration bill was sent to Congress in July 1963. It underwent Senate and House Judiciary Committee hearings but never came to a vote in either house.

The Johnson bill, following its guidelines, would set at about 165,000 the maximum quota immigrants each year. No country could account for more than 10 per cent of the total. But the President could reserve 30 per cent of the total numbers for distribution to Allied nations who currently send more immigrants than the 10 per cent would allow. He could reserve 10 per cent more for refugees.

If a nation fails to use all of its 10 per cent, its extra spaces would be reassigned to another nation. Great Britain, for example, uses only about 32,000 of its annual assignment of 83,000 under the present system.

As under the 1924 law, first preference would go to those with the most to offer the United States. But instead of limiting this preference to those with "urgently needed" skills, as under the present law, it would be broadened to include those whose immigration would be "especially advantageous" to U.S. economy and culture.

Parents of U.S. citizens would no longer be subject to quota limitations. Parents of aliens who live in the United States would fall into a fourth preference class; they currently are given no preference. Sec. (Cont. on page 14)

RECOGNITION DINNER FOR 4-H LEADERS

A recognition banquet for 4-H club leaders will be held Thursday at the Rustic Rock beginning at 6:30 p.m., and it is expected some 60 to 75 men and women, leaders in 4-H work, will be present.

William Bogart, Extension Youth Agent for Scott and Mississippi Counties will preside and the guest speaker will be Frank Graham, Extension Youth Specialist from the University of Missouri.

Swear In Two For Highway Commission

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Two appointees of Missouri's new governor were sworn in as members of the State Highway Commission late Tuesday so it will have a quorum of three and can do business.

Jack Stapleton Sr. of Stanberry, a weekly newspaper publisher, becomes chairman. The other new member is A.C. Riley, a cotton planter and banker at New Madrid. Roy Mayes, Sr., of Carthage, a Republican, is the only holdover. There is one vacancy.

Three members of the commission named by Hearnes' Democratic predecessor, John M. Dalton, resigned in December.

When Hearnes designated Stapleton and Riley as replacements, he said he would fill the other vacancy with a man from the Kansas City or St. Louis metropolitan area.

Hearnes plans to ask the Legislature to increase the membership of the commission from four to six. If his proposal is accepted, he said, he will appoint the fifth man from the other metropolitan area and the sixth from northeast Missouri.

Kiwanis to Meet At Holiday Inn

The Kiwanis Club will meet at the Holiday Inn for the first quarter of 1965 it was voted Monday night when the club met at the Holiday Inn.

The club had to make a last minute shift from their usual meeting place because of remodeling work on the kitchen at the Dunn Hotel.

The club will meet at the same time, 6 p.m., each Tuesday night.

Two new members were received, Roger Sherman and Harold Powell and the club concluded its business by adopting a budget for the year.

With Burch Resignation Goldwater Loses GOP Control; Bliss Goes in Office April 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater's conservative command of the Republican party was over today, a scant six months after it began.

Accepting a shift he once said would be "a repudiation of me," the former Arizona senator invited Ray C. Bliss of Ohio to take over the Republican National Committee chairmanship now held by his man, Dean Burch.

Burch, picked for the job after Goldwater won the Republican presidential nomination last July 15, said he would step down effective April 1.

The Republican National Committee, which gathers in Chicago in nine days, will act on the plan to have Bliss take over the committee reign, averting a showdown confidence vote on Burch's own tenure.

Announcing the settlement in Phoenix Tuesday, both Goldwater and Burch insisted they could capture a committee majority in a showdown. Privately, allies of the embattled chairman had conceded in advance this probably was not so.

In any event, Goldwater himself said Burch could not command "a clear working mandate."

He said a fight in Chicago "could have scored a victory for neither side, and it would have left our party dangerously divided."

Goldwater said he talked it over with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon "and each of them has concluded it as being in the best interests of our party and our country."

Nixon and Eisenhower told Goldwater a month ago that Burch would have to have a mandate, not just a majority in the National Committee, to continue as chairman.

Five days later, Burch wrote committee members he was facing ouster demands as a symbol of Goldwater and of conservative Republicans.

Reacting to Burch's resignation, the GOP national committeewoman from Oklahoma said conservatives might take it just that way.

"This could be the beginning of a third party," said Dorcas Kelly of Oklahoma. "I don't know why Sen. Goldwater and Mr. Burch gave in to those governors. That's all it is — just a bunch of governors, and a minority at that, who want a change."

Burch said the resignation would avert "a party-splitting test of strength in Chicago."

Republican governors, who met in Denver last month, had been pressing for a change in party leadership.

In the $30,000-a-year job he is leaving, Burch was the last close Goldwater associate remaining in a top political strategy post at the National Committee.

A scattering of Goldwater men remain on the skeleton, off-year staff, including Charles Lichtenstein, recently named committee research director, and treasurer William Mendenhall III.

Bliss was a member of Goldwater's three-man campaign steering committee, which advised the nominee on strategy and mapped his schedules. He was not a pre-convention Goldwater booster.

Two Sikeston Drivers Had Road Mishaps

Three of the five traffic accidents reported for Tuesday in its 14-county territory by Troop E, State Highway Patrol, took place in this vicinity and two involved Sikeston drivers. There were no fatalities and no injuries.

At 4:20 p.m. Tuesday, the Patrol reports, in Benton on Highway 61, Eula May Winch, 26, of Illinois, drove in front of a car driven by Edith Isabelle Wood, 39, Sikeston and there was a collision. Nobody injured but Eula Winch was charged with failure to yield right of way.

At 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, the Patrol reports, in Scott City on Highway 61, Theibert Lee Metheny, 44, of Oak Ridge, Mo., drove his pickup truck in front of a car driven by James William Ward, 42, of Sikeston. There was a collision but nobody injured. Metheny was charged with failure to yield right of way.

At 8:15 Tuesday, the Patrol reports, in East Prairie, at an intersection, a car driven by Jimmie Dowdy, 24, East Prairie, was hit by a car driven by Mary Hester, 39, East Prairie. No injuries or arrests.

Paul W. Moore

Paul W. Moore, assistant national director of the Exploring service of the Boy Scouts of America will be in Sikeston Tuesday, Jan. 19 to meet with Boy Scout and Explorer leaders and discuss the exploring program.

Mr. Moore will meet with the executive staff of the Southeast Missouri Council at Cyrus Restaurant at 10 a.m. Tuesday and will leave early that afternoon for Columbia, Mo.

Puckett's Broken into Sunday Night

The Puckett Distributing Company, on East Malone, was broken into when thieves broke a window Sunday night. The office was in shambles before they left, according to Charles Masterson.

The thief left with a check writing machine, after tearing up a filing cabinet, and started off with an electric calculator, which was dropped and broken. No money or beer was reported missing in the burglary.

Luxury Liners Tied Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Scheduled sailings of two luxury liners have been canceled as seagoing unions of the American merchant marine supported the longshoremen on strike on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

The seagoing unions called for immobilization of American-flag passenger ships on the two coasts in a show of unity with the International Longshoremen's Association.

Ship companies ordered the sailings canceled Tuesday after the National Maritime Union and the Seafarers International Union announced that their members would refuse to cross the longshoremen's picket lines. All three unions are AFL-CIO affiliates. The NMU and the SIU emphasized that they were not striking.

Other unions in addition to the NMU and the SIU — both of which represent unlicensed ship personnel below officer grade — also have pledged support to the 60,000 striking dock workers.

The two big ships knocked out are the superliner United States, flagship of the United States Lines, which had been scheduled to sail for Europe Thursday with 800 passengers; and the Argentina of the Moore-McCormack Lines, which was to have left New York today with about 180 passengers on an eight-day Caribbean cruise.

The action by the seagoing unions greatly increased the impact of the three-day-old dock strike which is causing an estimated loss of $20 million to $25 million a day to the nation's economy. Up to 200 ships are reported tied up in two score ports.

William B. Rand, president of the United States Lines, said the cancellation of American-flag passenger ship sailings is "an extremely damaging blow to the American merchant marine and the entire shipping industry."

The seagoing unions' announcement came as Thomas W. Gleason, president of the longshoremen's union, was holding a news conference to discuss plans to get a new vote among the 24,000 ILA members in the Port of New York on the proposed contract. The contract was rejected last Friday by a margin of 930 in a vote in which 16,000 members participated.

Gleason, who had urged ratification of the contract, said the union's headquarters will send a letter to every member in New York explaining what he called "the best contract won in union history."

The contract rejection was the main factor triggering the two-coast strike.

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Clare Boothe Luce says it would take "another depression or a long and wounding war" to put a Republican back in the White House.

Police Report 3 Arrests Tuesday

The city police made three arrests on Tuesday. Lewis F. Hux, 202 Daniel, charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace, was placed in the city jail.

James Lloyd Hellwig, Cape Girardeau, charged with auto theft, was turned over to Scott county authorities.

Gary B. Williams, 419 W. Gladys, charged with careless and imprudent driving and failure to have car under control, was given summons to appear in court.

JOHN T. CONNOR APPROVED BY SENATE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON AP — The Senate Commerce Committee unanimously approved Tuesday President Johnson's nomination of John T. Connor, New Jersey drug manufacturer, to be secretary of commerce.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., arranged to have the committee's action reported immediately to the Senate in hopes of confirmation of the nomination before the end of the week.

The President hopes, it is understood, that Connor can take over Friday from retiring Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges.

Connor is Johnson's first cabinet nominee.

A UNITE HOBBY BUT A BIT ODORIFEROUS

BESMARCH, N. D. AP — A cache of garbage can lids — apparently stashed away by vandals — has been uncovered by police in Hillside Park.

Home owners were informed Monday and many of the 60 lids picked up Saturday night were reclaimed.

Householders were told later to claim the remainder of the lids because they're unsightly — and smelly.

Folklores On National TV Sunday

Sunday afternoon, thanks to the talents of five young Sikeston musicians, the whole country will hear about this city when the Folklores of Sikeston, appear on the Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour.

The quintet, four boys and a girl, won honors at the Mid-South Fair in Memphis and on the strength of their showing were invited to come to Miami, Fla., to have their act taped for the Ted Mack Show.

Through the co-operation of many fellow citizens and firms the money to send the group was raised; they went, were taped and will be seen and heard Sunday.

It is urged that every Sikestonian remember to fill out a postcard vote for the Folklores and mail it to "The Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour, P. O. Box 191, Radio City Station, New York City."

If enough people vote the group could win and go on to the next competition. Three wins and they can compete in the national elimination contest to select the best amateur act. Remember to vote. It means a lot to the Folklores and will bring recognition to Sikeston.

Benton C. of C. Elects Officers

BENTON — Frank Moring was elected president of the chamber of commerce here Monday night in a meeting held at St. Denis school. The program was given on wildlife by members of the State Conservation Commission, with dinner served by the parish women. A membership drive is being conducted this month.

Other officers elected were, William Miller, vice-president; Robert Baker, secretary; Charles Klipfel, treasurer; and Monroe Bollner, program chairman.

VA To Close 30 Installations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional sources report the Veterans Administration will close 30 installations throughout the country.

One source said the action is designed to save about $23.5 million annually.

Affected employees would be given an opportunity to get federal jobs elsewhere, members of Congress were told.

The closure order includes 11 hospitals, three veterans homes and 16 regional offices.

Regional offices involved and the location with which their duties will be merged include Kansas City, Mo., to St. Louis, The Kansas City office serves western Missouri and north-eastern Kansas.

Spells Out Many Recommendations Previously Made

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes asked the legislature today to pass the laws to bring a new day to Missouri.

He spelled out the recommendations he hinted at in his inaugural address Monday. And the new Democratic governor promised full cooperation with the heavily Democratic assembly.

"I have full confidence in your concern and judgment," he said in the message prepared for a joint session of the House and Senate. "I feel you will be a great and imaginative, indeed, a daring legislative body."

For the most part the 12-page message froze into history the recommendations which helped get him elected last November. He said he would have more suggestions for the legislature later.

At the top of the long list he put reappointment of the legislature itself.

"I do not doubt," he said, "that this will provide the most vexing problems of this session, but this legislature must find ways to accomplish these acts of reappointment."

He called on the lawmakers to act "in a realistic and statesmanlike manner." He warned that failure to solve the problem by adjournment time June 30 "is to invite chaos and produce results which could be long detrimental to Missouri."

He also asked the assembly to redraw congressional district lines. Both legislative and congressional reapportionment in Missouri were thrown out by federal courts just before the session started.

Bills to carry out the Hearnes plan for legislative redistricting by bipartisan commissions were introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

So was a proposed constitutional amendment to let a governor succeed himself — something Hearnes at 41 would like to do. This is what he said about the issue, which is expected to run into heavy opposition.

"A governor runs on a legislative platform and is held by the public responsible for initiating policy. He is held responsible for expressing the views of the state on new issues arising during the tenure of his office. He should have sufficient time to carry out these policies and programs and the people should have the right to judge the success or failure of a governor."

He said the legislature should submit a constitutional amendment to curb the ban on succession because "the natural choice of the people is far more preferable than any mechanical limitation such as a constitutional restriction."

His predecessor, former Gov. John M. Dalton, also recommended the change.

Like Dalton, Hearnes also said one of the legislature's first acts must be to provide for income tax refunds and interest on them. The last legislature did not provide enough money to make refunds and a big backlog has piled up.

Hearnes also recommended repeal of the present property tax levy of one cent on each $100 valuation. A bill to do that already has been introduced.

The new governor said Missouri now has adequate income to make a tax increase unnecessary.

"But to forego the possibility of further increases in time of crisis, 'I recommend the establishment of a permanent, continuing tax study body to bring soundness to future tax planning and revenue production.'"

Hearnes put his recommendations on education second only after legislative reapportionment. He listed five specific requests:

Expansion of state aid under the school foundation program. Changing the requirements for all general obligation bonds, including school bonds, from two-thirds to a simple majority vote.

A significant increase in the maximum current levy school districts may set up by majority vote.

Four-year colleges at St. Joseph and Joplin, with the communities paying for the first two junior college years and providing facilities for third and fourth year programs to be financed by the state.

Continuance of residence centers at Malden, West Plains and Independence.

The 1963 legislature passed a bill to set up four year colleges at St. Joseph and Joplin but Dalton vetoed it as premature.

Hearnes proposed two new state agencies — a department of urban affairs as promised in his campaign and one for a new state air conservation commission to solve the problems of air pollution with federal and local aid.

He said he would appoint immediately an administrative assistant for urban affairs to work out a comprehensive plan to deal with urban problems and draft a blueprint for the new state department.

The governor said solution of age-old mental health problems must be the state's goal. He recommended:

Establishment of nine regional diagnostic and treatment clinics for the mentally retarded, as proposed by the Division of Mental Diseases.

Maximum financial support for three new intensive mental treatment centers at St. Louis, Kansas City and Columbia, set up by the 1963 legislature and now under construction.

Higher salaries for workers in the mental health field.

Hearnes told the legislators many improvements must be made to modernize the state's penal system. For now he recommended:

More money for the State Department of Corrections and the Probation and Parole Board.

Emergency bills to increase the salary of the director of corrections from $15,000 a year to $18,500 and the chairman of the parole board from $10,500 to $15,000, with other board members going from $9,000 to $13,000. Both the director of corrections and the parole board have resigned.

Expansion of a state rehabilitation and parole system.

Minimum standards for city and county jail which have no state supervision.

Here is a summary of Hearnes' other recommendations.

Traffic safety — A chemical test law to determine whether a driver is drunk and evocation of his license if he refuses to take the test. Such a bill was introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

Special attention to other recommendations of the interim committee on traffic safety, presented to the Senate Tuesday.

Insurance — An agent qualification law. Improved salaries and larger staff for the division of finance.

Ethics — A strong conflict of interest law to prevent public officials from using their offices for private gain.

A lobby registration law to require all lobbyists to report the sources of the money they spend and how they spend it.

Tourism — "Aggressive state programs in soil and water conservation, forest protection, pollution control, fish and wildlife management and recreational development."

An inter-agency council for outdoor recreation. Hearnes said he would call a governor's conference on this subject soon and appoint a citizens' advisory committee to work with state agencies in this field.

State and local government — A uniform financial statement for all state agencies to report their money matters to the state treasurer — as called for in a pending Senate bill.

Legislation to require all local political subdivisions to file annual financial statements with the state auditor.

Alternative forms of government for third and fourth class counties. He said this would go a long way toward helping these counties meet their responsibilities. Some are broke now.

Human rights — Prompt enactment of a civil rights law in accord with federal laws which give primary jurisdiction to the

IT'S A FACT

The recent overwhelming vote in the British House of Commons to abolish capital punishment has again brought this controversial subject into the news. Execution by the state was once a common penalty throughout the world. In England during the 18th century death was decreed for several hundred specific offenses; children were not exempt.

But the trend toward abolition has continued to grow in the peacetime codes of many nations. And in the United States, the death penalty is rarely carried out. Data on the subject was not systematically compiled until 1930. Comparing the period 1930-34 with that of 1956-60, the annual average dropped in the north-eastern states from 31 to 7, in the north central states from 21 to 3, in the southern states from 84 to 36 and in the western states from 19 to 11, in spite of a tremendous population increase, especially in the west.

Although the army and air force carried out 159 executions, 148 of them were during the period 1942-50. One hundred and six were for murder, 52 for rape and one for desertion. The navy has executed no one since 1842.

In Europe the death penalty is found in all communist states, the Balkans, the United Kingdom Ireland, France and Spain. It has been eliminated in Sweden, Finland, Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, the German Federal Republic, Iceland, Austria, Italy, Portugal and Switzerland.

All African and Asian countries have retained capital punishment except Israel (except for treason and Nazi collaborators) and Nepal. In Australia, only Queensland has abandoned it. New Zealand abolished the death penalty in 1961.

In Latin America it has been abolished in Costa Rica, Columbia, Panama, Uruguay, Venezuela, Ecuador, Argentina, Brazil, the Dominican Republic, and in all but eight states of the Mexican federation.

Today's smile: We liked the one about the fellow who consulted a lawyer and, when he had finished outlining the facts of the matter, the attorney said to him: "Well, if you want my honest opinion. . ." The client quickly shut him off with: "No, I want your professional advice."

... procrastination is a fault that most people put off trying to correct.

A plan to facilitate the closing of the New York Stock Exchange in national emergencies has been approved by its Board of Governors. The Exchange's rules have been amended to permit a three-man committee consisting of the Chairman of the Board, the Vice-Chairman and the senior Floor Governor, on a majority vote "to suspend trading in all securities whenever in their opinion such suspension would be in the national interest."

We hope that Governor Hearnes and the 1965 Mississippi Legislature will enact the following:

CONSECUTIVE TERMS FOR GOVERNOR

It is an antiquated limitation which bars a Governor from succeeding himself. The Assembly should lose no time in providing necessary legislation to submit such a constitutional amendment to voters. This recommendation failed in the last Assembly.

A Governor of this state virtually becomes a lame duck as soon as his appointments are made after inaugural. His executive leadership is badly crippled because he will be Governor only a short four years -- scarcely longer than to learn the job. It should, of course, not be applicable to the incumbent in whose term it is passed.

According to an article in Saga magazine written by a retired Army officer, 389 American servicemen captured by Communist Chinese and North Korean forces during the Korean War are still imprisoned in Russia and Red China. It is charged that the U. S. government has done nothing to obtain the freedom of these men since the Korean truce of 11 years ago.

... only a woman can ask you, "Don't turn around -- but who is that couple that just came in?"

One of America's greatest salesmen was Henry J. Heinz, whose "57 Varieties" are known the world over. Like most geniuses he started to work at an early age at what was to become his life's vocation. Heinz peddled vegetables from his family's garden in Sharpsburg, Pa., at the age of 8. He was in business with his own horse and wagon at 12. He started the H. J. Heinz Company a few years later on the premise that a satisfied customer is a continuing one. One of his gimmicks was to package his vegetable products in clear glass bottles so they could be seen. Another of this nation's great success stories.

Did you know that Teddy Roosevelt started "hip" talk? He went to Panama and said, "Dig that canal."

Always read the label when you take medicine from the medicine chest. Then there is no risk of accidentally taking the wrong drug.

In addition to examining and stamping the quality of more than half the Nation's commercial production of beef, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Marketing Service graded almost 150 million pounds of veal and calf and more than 370 million pounds of lamb and mutton.

SCROUNGING QUEMOY PRIEST TELLS IT TO THE MARINES

When it comes to the delicate art of "scrounging," the frail, gray-bearded chaplain of Quemoy island is a past master. Franciscan Father Bernard Druetto started simply, according to the Catholic Digest. Taking advantage of the fact that Red China had made his island the most heavily bombed piece of real estate in the world, he collected empty howitzer shell cases, cut off the bottoms and made drain pipes.

Then he "appropriated" empty beer bottles to edge his garden. Liquor bottles did double duty: they held the sacramental wine (which he pressed himself) and served as candlestick holders.

The epitome of his scrounging occurred when he wrangled a plane ride to Okinawa for a salvage sale of U. S. Marine equipment. Noticing that his finances wouldn't cover the mountain of cast-off gear he wished to purchase, the Leathernecks took swift command of the situation. They slyly took up a post-payday collection and--by sheer "coincidence"--managed to cover the balance. Including a used jeep for $400.

"Hey, Ma, who's the curly-haired man in this picture?" "That's your father, dear." "Then who's that bald-headed guy in the living room?"

SHARES IN AMERICA'S FUTURE

What is the anticipated future of the securities industry? That's a big and important question in the light of the drive to stimulate capital investment, create new jobs, ultimately abolish poverty, and further raise our living standards. And the New York Stock Exchange has come up with an answer.

If the present trends continue, it foresees that by 1980 there will be 35 million stockholders, as compared with 17 million shown by the latest count; that average daily volume on the Exchange will be eight million shares, as contrasted with the record high of 4,600,000 set last year; and that some 30 per cent of all listed stock will be owned by financial institutions, as against 20 per cent today.

The Exchange is now preparing for this vast expansion. A new ticker system, combined with an automatic communications network, will be in full operation by the end of next year and will make possible the processing of more than 16 million shares a day.

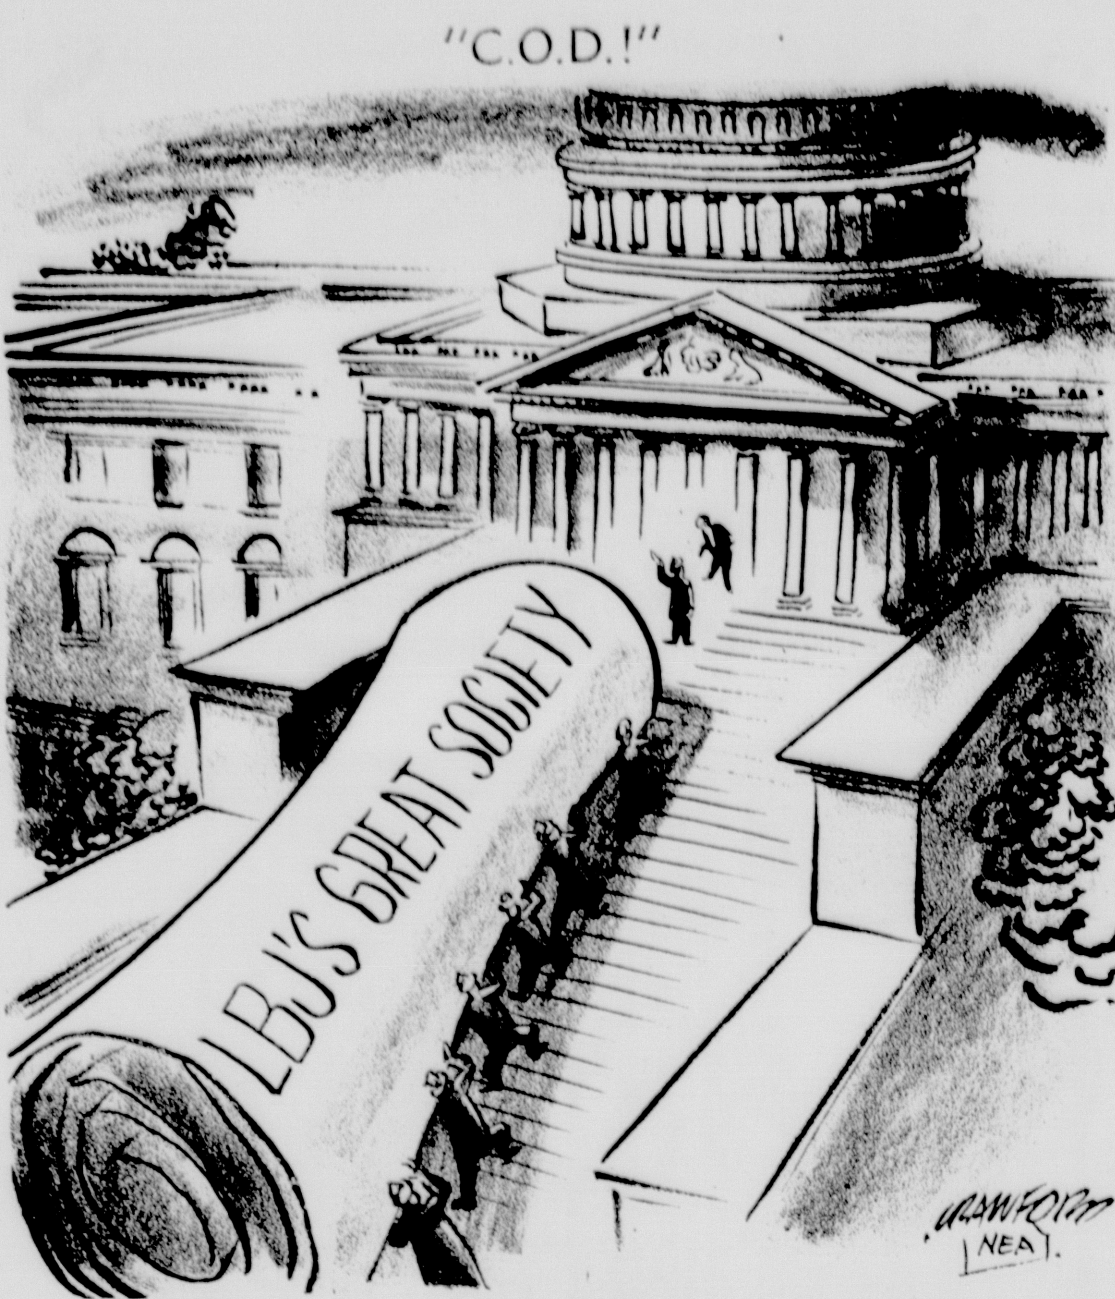

These forecasts are based on past experience and on factual studies. To take one example, the growth in the number of people owning stocks has been striking. The 17 million figure is from a census made in early 1962 and compares with 16.5 million only 10 years earlier. And since 1962 there has been a further increase.

The investor is buying shares in America's future. And when he does that, he expresses faith not only in a company or companies, but in the system we call free enterprise--the system that has given the American people as a whole more material things than any other yet devised by man.

An automatic food waste disposer installed in the kitchen sink reduces work and improves home sanitation.

UNITS OF GOVERNMENT DOWN; WORKERS RISE

Since 1942, four out of 10

governmental units in the United States have been eliminated, notes Tax Foundation, Inc. But those units still in existence in 1962 employed about twice as many workers. If the Federal government is counted as one unit, the number of units has dropped from 155,116 to 91,158. Meanwhile, Federal, state and local civilian employment has risen from 5,915,000 to 9,388,600. The cost of paying them in 1963 was about five times as great as it was--$45 billion--or $242 per American. The Foundation makes this estimate in its forthcoming 13th edition of its biennial publication, Facts and Figures on Government Finance, 1964-65.

OUT OF THE EAST

It seems quite possible that we may get a clearer view from Taipei than from Washington on what goes on in Viet-Nam.

Major General Nguyen Van Phieu, Viet-Nameese chief of staff, who has just completed a week's visit in the Capital of Nationalist China, told the press on arrival, for instance, that he had "full evidence" of Red Chinese backing of the Communist Viet-cong in the conduct of infiltration and subversion in Viet-Nam. He also declared that his forces would march into North Viet-Nam to crush the Communist Vietminh regime and reunify all of Viet-Nam "when we deem it necessary."

On leaving, General Phieu expressed satisfaction over his discussions with Nationalist Chinese officials on "future Sino-Vietnamese military cooperation." The report from Taipei also noted that the General was received by President Chiang Kai-shek, but gave no further detail. Even more encouraging, the New Life Daily News of Taipei greeted the appointment of General Maxwell D. Taylor as the new US Ambassador with enthusiasm and declared editorially that this showed "US determination to defend Viet-Nam and Southeast Asia."

"The team of Taylor and U. Alexis Johnson," said the paper, "is a combination of military and political skill probably unmatched in any other US mission abroad. . . Together with Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, who is also new to the top military command, they should constitute a whale of a team."

The editorial concludes that the "triumvirate is a happy omen for showdown with the Communists in Southeast Asia, and we hope, in mainland China, where the roots of all aggression in this part of the world."

Such optimistic opinion from the Orient -- whence it should be most significant -- is as cheering as the dawn after a night of storm. May it be well-founded!

TAX TROUBLES

The Internal Revenue department received a return from a bachelor listing one dependent son. The examiner returned the form with the comment: "This must be a stenographic error."

"You're telling me," the man wrote back.

In a study of the fatal accidents that occurred in Missouri during the last New Year's holiday period, which took 24 lives, the Highway Patrol found that 10 of the 16 fatal accidents involved only one car. These 10 one-car accidents took 11 lives and resulted in injuries to 10 people. One pedestrian was included in the toll.

The main causes of the 10 fatal accidents were not adverse weather conditions or one driver forcing another out of control. The main reason for these fatal accidents was driving too fast for conditions and losing control of the car. One driver fell asleep at the wheel.

The study by the Patrol also showed that of the 11 people killed in the one-car accidents, five were in their twenties, two were in their teens and the remaining four ranged from ages 57 to 77.

Since over half of the holiday fatal accidents involved only one car under normal driving conditions, the Patrol stated that there is a need for the individual driver to be on the alert, no matter how much "clear sailing" he apparently sees ahead.

"Some people seem to think that to have a serious auto accident two or more cars need to be involved," declared Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, Superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol. "This is not true. All that is needed is one driver making a careless mistake, and an accident can occur."

"A driver should always expect the unexpected," Colonel Waggoner continued. "He must be aware that when he is driving, he controls a great amount of potentially deadly horsepower. When control of a vehicle is even momentarily lost an accident can occur. An unexpected curve in the highway, attempted at an excessive speed, can result in a serious accident."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Before John T. Connor, the new Secretary of Commerce, arranged to put his Merck Drug Company stock in a trust, he called at the White House to outline the plan to the President, then conferred with LEB's economic experts.

Connor outlined three main steps he planned to take:

First, he said he planned to resign every connection he had, not only business, but as a trustee of colleges and universities.

"Why are you doing that?" Connor was asked.

"Don't colleges get research contracts from the federal government?" he replied.

"Not from you."

"But they do from some of my colleagues," he said, and stuck by his decision.

Second, he has a clear understanding with Morgan Guaranty Co., his trustee, that they will sell his Merck stock. It will not be sold immediately, since this would break the market, also he would lose about half a million dollars in capital gains taxes. But the stock will be sold.

Third, Connor under no circumstances will know what his money is invested in. He will get a check from Morgan Guaranty Co., once a year, but they will not report to him on any of his investments.

The President's economists plus members of the Senate Commerce Committee concluded that Connor had gone far enough, in fact, much further than certain other cabinet members in avoiding all possible conflict of interest.

THE PRESIDENT'S SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY--In contrast, LEB's Secretary of the Treasury, George M. Humphrey, refused to sell his stock even though it was directly affected by the taxes the treasury imposed. He argued that the law did not forbid him to own stock and cited his own law firm as authority. Two members of that firm were later made Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Counsel of Internal Revenue.

Humphrey owned 67,555 shares in the M.A. Hanna Co., a holding company which benefited from tax and other treasury policies, and which made a profit for Humphrey of $202,665 in 1956 alone.

Humphrey also owned 20,000 shares in Pittsburgh Consolidation. Its stock in 1953 when Humphrey became Secretary of the Treasury was valued at $126,160,701. When Humphrey got out in 1957, its value was $568,306,250. In other words, it had increased in value $242,145,546 during the period Humphrey was head of the Treasury.

A factor which probably contributed to its increased value was an event which followed a $300,000,000 loan from the export-import bank, whose decision Humphrey as Treasury head, guided, to Brazil. After this loan was granted Brazilian National Steel, 85 per cent owned by the Brazilian government, canceled part of a long standing coal contract with Eastern Fuel and Gas to award a large contract to Pittsburgh Consolidation.

After Humphrey left the Eisenhower cabinet, he became president of National Steel, another affiliate of the M. A. Hanna Co. Its shares had increased in value from $374,758,720 to $484,962,000 during the period Humphrey was in office. He owned 13,200 shares at $50, or $660,000, and kept his stock. He did not even put it in trust during his term in the Treasury.

LEB'S FIRST TEACHER--The one person whom President Johnson most wants at his swearing-in, aside from his immediate family, is Mrs. Chester Lowrey, the teacher who taught him in grade school back in Texas.

When Mrs. Lowrey, now living in Rough and Ready, Calif., was reached on the telephone by the White House, she said she certainly wanted to come

Colonel Waggoner concluded, "There are no perfect drivers. With more cars on the highways, covering more miles each year, the chances for having traffic accidents are greater than ever before. If traffic accidents are to be reduced, drivers must do a better job of driving."

FROM THE MAIL BAG: "I wear a size 12 shoe, and the last pair of slacks I bought had 15 inch bottoms. That means my pants are 7 1/2 inches long at the cuff, and my shoes are 12 inches long, plus! Looks awkward, right? What do I do?" Well, you can't get shorter shoes -- so your only course is to get wider trousers. And you can if you see the manager of your favorite men's store. Such pants are made, and can be obtained without difficulty.

APPLE POLISHER A LOCAL FOURTH grade class acquired a new teacher last week. At the conclusion of the morning session, a little girl who had been sitting in the front row handed the teacher this note:

"Dear Teacher, I think you are going to be wonderful and I already love you."

Then she appended this P. S.: "The girl sitting next to me thinks you are a big fat slob."

First Baby: "I wish my mother had never heard of that horrible baby food. It tastes like fermented drift wood!"

Second Baby: "Huh! You think you've got it rough! I'm a breast-fed baby and Pop smokes those awful El Ropco cigars!"

"For 20 years my wife and I were deliciously happy."

"Then what happened?"

"We got married!"

IT KNOCKS ONLY ONCE

The car motor vibrated and wheezed and finally came to a stop on a lonely road. "I wonder," mused the sailor, "what that knock is?"

"Maybe," the blonde said snuggling up, "it's opportunity."

Divorce judge: "How long have your relations been unpleasant?"

Woman: "Your honor, my relations have always been pleasant. It's his relations that are the trouble makers."

The cigarette scare has really gotten to some people. I heard someone describe a coffin as a "flip-top" box.

friends knew of his habit, so one day they decided to play a trick on him by placing his name and picture in the obituaries.

The following day Fred gets his newspaper, turns to the obituary page, and there he sees his name, his biography, his photo. The poor guy is startled and amazed.

He goes to the phone and rings up his pal, George. "Listen," he says, "Do you have the morning paper? You do? Please turn to the obituary page. You have? What do you see in the second column?"

There's a pause and George says, "Holy smoke! It's you, Fred! It's you all right! Listen, where are you calling from?"

TRENDS: The so-called "Wat Look," for foul weather and boating, will be a popular feature for other activities as well, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. The coated finish is being shown in patterned nylon, madras, duck and chambray. Many of the jackets have hoods, and will be seen on the beaches throughout spring and summer--the two best colors, in sports outerwear and sweaters, appear to be bright yellow and blue.

TOO MANY WORRIES A vegetable grower druing a drought was extremely concerned, and an acquaintance told him that he looked worried.

"You're exactly right," the man admitted. "I'm booked solid on worries. Why, I've so many worries on my mind that if anything occurs today, it'll be 10 days before I can get around to worrying about it!"

MARY WAS EDITOR'S CHILD "Mary Had A Little Lamb" is one of the very few so-called "Mother Goose Rhymes" which does not fit into the file labeled, "Author Unknown," it was written back in the late 1800's by an American writer named Sara Josepha Buell Hale who, in addition to immortalizing Mary's fleecy friend, has another claim to fame. She was, for more than forty years, editor of what was probably the first and most famous of all women's magazines, the celebrated "Godey's Lady's Book."

HIS REQUEST

A reckless driver was hauled into court for speeding. After a lengthy sermon by the judge, the driver quipped: "Aren't you the elegant one? I'll bet you can recite Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, too."

"I'm proud to say I can," admitted the Judge. "And I hereby sentence you to fourscore and seven days in jail!"

The largest child ever born, according to medical records, was the 23-3/4 pound, 30 inch long son born in 1897 Anna Bates, of Nova Scotia.

Inside Labor

By VICTOR RIESEL

Labor Chiefs Plan to Pressure Banks, Insurance Firms By Threatening to Withdraw Billions of Pension Dollars.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In the third floor conference room of labor's national headquarters here a group of men spent last Thursday morning discussing the use of billions of dollars to launch a great white collar unionizing drive.

If this campaign ever gets off the ground it could do more for labor in the sixties than the CIO's marches on Pittsburgh and Detroit did for it in the thirties.

It must be noted quickly, however, that the group of literate and "younger" labor leaders on the third floor were not taking of spending scores of billions of dollars. They discussed the use of such billions as a pressure weapon with which to convince the banks, brokerage houses, insurance companies and health and financial commodity exchanges to accept unionization of their hundreds of thousands of employees.

Those billions of dollars belong to labor's general treasuries, union operated pension and welfare funds and joint labor-management pension pools, over which labor leaders have considerable influence.

So vast are these monies, they could pay America's bill for more than a year. Contributions to "fringe benefit" plans under existing labor contracts now run upward of $16 billion a year -- and by 1970 will run more than $20 billion annually.

There are thousands of small local unions which have more than $3 million dollars in their tiny pension funds. Dave Dubinsky's ladies garment workers just merged its pension fund into a single operation totaling more than a quarter of a billion dollars.

Much of these billions is shrewdly invested. Huge amounts also stay in cash deposits for regular payments. Union members' insurance -- some with annual premiums of half a million dollars -- is placed regularly with all sorts of companies. There are complicated combinations of investments and cash accounts and health plans and relationships with such outfits as Blue Cross.

Union members' insurance -- some with annual premiums of half a million dollars -- is placed regularly with all sorts of companies. There are complicated combinations of investments and cash accounts and health plans and relationships with such outfits as Blue Cross.

ships with such outfits as Blue Cross.

And all the banks and insurance companies and Wall Street houses and health groupings which welcome the billions of dollars involved have a grand total of millions of "white collar" employees.

It was the thinking of the labor leaders in the Thursday conference that if the banks and financial houses and insurance firms want the billions in deposits and business, they should make the unionizing of their employees easy.

The white collar strategy group -- in which sat such men as the AFL-CIO's Social Security specialist Nelson Cruikshank and Howard Coughlin, president of the Office Employees International Union -- fully understood its basic strength. If it could get the cooperation of the rest of American labor it could divert hundreds of millions of dollars from recalcitrant institutions.

A white collar organizing committee could call on fellow unionists to withdraw deposits worth billions. It could easily convince unions to shift hundreds of millions of dollars worth of insurance from one firm to another. It could pull scores of thousands of unionists out of one health plan and swiftly place them into others.

This would be a new unionism, and in the hands of the middle generation of labor leaders such as Mr. Coughlin it could soar in a new and virtually untouched field. There are over 525,000 bank employees; over 500,000 work for insurance firms; more than 200,000 earn their living in security, commodity brokerage and investment houses; and still another hundred thousand work for Blue Cross and other health insurance plans.

And as in the mid-thirties, the first drive would be a mere scratching of a smooth surface. There are over 30 million white collar workers in the U.S. and some 22 million are in union jurisdictions.

Thus, unnoticed, a handful of men who have just begun to forage through the computer era may have made history last Thursday. They left to Mr. Cruikshank the drawing of the call to action. He will have it ready for the February Florida meeting of the AFL-CIO high command. They will no doubt endorse it. Word will get back to "Wall Street" fast enough. It will be passed on by the many customers, men whom the financial institutions now dispatch regularly to labor's meditations.

It is a new day with new types of "billions." The new unionism appears bound to come.

Flower Show Presented By Garden Club

Meadow Lane Garden Club met Friday, January 9, at the Hunter Memorial Presbyterian Church, with eight members present. Club president, Mrs. Ruth Lee conducted routine business at which time reports of various committees were heard and accepted. Mrs. M. H. Davis, general flower show chairman, presented plans for the fall flower show to be held at Sikeston Senior high school, October 9th and 10th. Mrs. E. F. Weidemann previewed next month's program which will be on landscape design.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Thomas B. Allen and Mrs. Donald Story who served as judges for the "Little Flower Show" for the day. Each member had displayed one or more arrangements within a schedule of four classes. These talented judges pointed out the good and bad points of each arrangement thus making a very profitable meeting.

Mrs. M. H. Davis, vice president of the club, has accepted an invitation to be a guest of the Green Thumb Garden Club in Poplar Bluff to present a program on flower arranging, November 9th. The meeting was adjourned.

ANN LANDERS

Answers your problems

Dear Readers: Well, I've done it again. Started a real donnybrook.

I've had complaints from science writers, beefs from physicians, bouquets from the geneticists, questions from non-professionals.

And I've heard from cousins by the dozens... Some damning me, others praising me.

It all started when I advised first cousins who had fallen in love to go ahead and marry. I said, "It is not true that first cousins produce half-witted children. Inheritable physical defects are likely to show up in an offspring when first cousins marry. However, normally healthy people need have no fears."

After reading the excellent material sent by Dr. Eric Reiss, chairman of the division of medicine at Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center in Chicago (he's again such marriages), I was inclined to send a telegram to those first cousins and tell them not even to look at each other. His letter claimed that among children born to first cousin marriages the incidence of amaurotic idiocy (mental deficiency associated with impaired vision or blindness), for example, is about 15 per cent.

Dr. James Crow, Professor of Medical Genetics and acting dean of the medical school of the University of Wisconsin wrote an equally convincing letter.

He claims first-cousin marriages are not particularly hazardous.

"The girl next door, who is no relation whatever, could have deleterious recessive genes," wrote Dr. Crow. "The chance for abnormal offspring when first cousins marry increases roughly from 2 per cent to 3 per cent -- hardly worth worrying about."

And then there is the other side again:

Dr. Samuel P. Bessman, Professor of Pediatric Research and Associate Professor of Biochemistry at the University of Maryland in Baltimore who wrote, "Please accept one bouquet of advice to the man contemplating marriage to a first cousin. Love does not conquer genetics, as Egyptian royalty, the Hapsburgs, the Hapsburgs can attest. The likelihood that a first-cousin marriage will reveal genetic traits present in a family is very great."

A reader from Benton Harbor, Michigan wrote, "I married my first cousin and we have six bright, healthy children. My brother married a girl he met in Europe, during the war. They have four of the nuttiest kids I ever saw."

A geneticist from Washington, D.C. wrote, "If cousins possess especially desirable traits -- traits worth reproducing -- a marriage between these two exceptional people would be desirable. This theory is basic in reproducing thoroughbred horses."

As if this wasn't enough I also heard from lawyers. In my advice to the first cousins I informed them that not all states permit first cousins to marry, so I suggested that if their state does not permit it, they should go to a state that does.

A Chicago attorney wrote, "Your advice suggests that the first cousins can go to another state, marry, and return to their home state and live happily ever after. Well, this is not the case. Their marriage could be considered null and void -- in Illinois, for instance."

So -- my advice to first cousins who are in love and want to marry is this: Look up a couple of doctors and a couple of lawyers, listen to them all, and then determine whose advice you are going to take.

THE BETTING BILLY GOAT: You lose on both counts. He is my first and only husband and he is not a physician.

News in Brief

Mrs. Howard Stowe arrived home Tuesday morning from St. Louis where she had accompanied her son, Royal Stowe on his return trip to San Leandro, Calif. Mrs. Stowe remained in St. Louis to visit with another son, Bob Stowe and family.

Bob Mack of Sheridan, Ark., visited with his aunt, Mrs. B. C. Rice from Tuesday until Friday of last week.

Mrs. J. W. Foley returned last Saturday from a three-week visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foley and daughters, Linda, Christy and Diane, of Los Angeles, Calif.

Sp/4 David S. Shain, who had spent a 30-day leave here visiting his mother, Mrs. A. J. Shain and brothers, and families, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Shain and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Shain, Jr., and children, left Monday night for Germany where he is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Chandler of St. Louis spent the week-end with Mrs. Chandler's mother, Mrs. Pat Davis. Others in the home Sunday were: Mrs. L. L. Satterfield of Cairo, Ill., and B. L. Kiser of Memphis, Tenn. Mrs. Satterfield is sister and Mr. Kiser, brother, of Mrs. Davis.

Admitted to the Southeast Missouri Hospital, Cape Girardeau: Mrs. Ray Richards.

After all the rich wining and dining of the holiday parties, plain pork and beans will seem an exotic delicacy.

Rebels Suffer 77-42 Tromp As Bloomfield Rolls On

Victory Is Number Sixteen For Cats

RICHLAND -- The Bloomfield Wildcats tromped out to their 16th victory of the season here last night with a 77-42 defeat over the problem-studded Richland Rebels. Bloomfield's record now comes to 16 wins and 1 loss. The loss was dealt to them by way of the powerful Memphis Kingsbury Falcons. Richland started off the game being tough as nails filling only two short of Bloomfield with the score 10-8. Bloomfield could manage to add only four more points to their lead the second quarter to come in at halftime 25-19.

In first half play Richland found little trouble with the Wildcats full out defense and they stayed with them on the boards.

Bloomfield got things started hot in the third period, led by Mike Wise who got 13 points and 8 rebounds, as they went zipping out to a 17 point advantage, 47-30, to go into the final frame. The Wildcats continued blasting the Rebels off the court the last quarter, out scoring them 30-12 to gain their 35 point victory.

Richland's night wasn't lost however, they came through to win the "B" game 51-28 for their 18th consecutive victory of the season.

Airman McGee Gets Award for Being Neat and Tidy

MOREHOUSE -- An Airman was apprehended last week by the Bolling USAF base commander in the vicinity of the base library for "Action Be coming an Airman."

A/3C Ellis (Sonny) Agee, assigned to the USAF honor guard, was walking back to his squadron area from the base exchange when he saw paper blow off a passing truck. Without hesitation he picked up the paper and started toward the trash receptacle on the corner. Enroute, he spotted another piece of paper and had just picked it up when a staff car pulled alongside him and stopped. Agee was unable to see who was in the car and started to open the door to see who wanted to talk to him. Inside the car was Bolling Commander Col. Frank E. Marek who asked, "What is your name, Airman?" Agee answered the questions, wondering what he had done wrong to be questioned by the base commander. The Colonel thanked Agee for picking up the paper, stating, "There should be more Air-

Can Use State Tax Table in Filing 1964 Income Taxes

Missouri taxpayers may use a state sales tax table as a guide-line when filing their 1964 federal income tax returns, Mr. F. O. Bookwalter, District Director of Internal Revenue said the table is now available.

The table shows the average amount of state sales tax paid by Missouri residents and may be used by taxpayers who itemize their federal income tax deductions. Similar tables have been prepared for 36 other states and the District of Columbia.

For the first time since 1960 when the tables were originally issued there has been a general revision of the amounts Mr.

In 1950. These items are not usually subjected to state sales taxes.

The new tables omit the state sales tax on automobiles purchased, thus providing a uniform treatment of this item for all states. Now taxpayers who purchase an automobile may add the sales taxes paid on the purchase to the amount shown on the sales tax tables. The new tables, however, are a more accurate measure of the average sales tax paid in the various states.

Internal Revenue reminds taxpayers that these tables are not required to be used. They are furnished as a guide for the convenience of taxpayers who itemize deductions of their federal income tax returns but who wish to use a "standard" amount for state sales tax which will not require detailed substantiation. Taxpayers have the choice, of course, of deducting the actual amount of state sales tax paid.

Joint Interim Committee Makes 19 Recommendations Concerning Traffic Safety

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A joint interim committee of the Missouri Legislature Tuesday made 19 traffic safety recommendations, including chemical tests for those suspected of driving while intoxicated.

The Committee on Traffic Safety and Uniform Motor Vehicle Laws said a law should be enacted establishing the chemical test and making the motorist's use of the highways imply his consent for the test.

"The driver should be permitted to refuse the test but such refusal, without good cause, should result in the revocation of his driver's license," the committee recommended.

Both former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes have suggested some form of test for driver intoxication. Hills establishing a chemical test have failed in recent sessions of the legislature.

The committee, headed by Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, also recommended increasing the minimum amount of liability insurance from $5,000 for each injury and $10,000 for total injuries in one accident to $10,000 and $20,000, respectively.

Another recommendation would impose a 40-mile-an-hour minimum speed limit for all vehicles on interstate highways. It also would impose a maximum speed limit for all trucks over 12,000 pounds on all highways.

Bills covering the committee's recommendations were introduced in the Senate today.

The committee urged a law requiring periodic mechanical inspection of motor vehicles under supervision of the state patrol. Such bills have died several times in the legislature.

The committee suggested requiring drivers to take vision examinations when renewing their licenses. The examinations would be financed by increasing the operator's license fee from the present $1 to $2 and the chauffeur's license fee from $3 to $10.

Other recommendations included laws to:

- Require a driver to dim his headlights when following within 300 feet of another vehicle.
- Require every vehicle to have at least two tail lights.
- Enact a uniform traffic ordinance which could be adopted by municipalities.

Provide for issuance of two license plates for each vehicle after 1967.

Adopt the Uniform Vehicle Safety Equipment Compact, making Missouri a party to the nationwide interstate compact established to review and approve vehicle safety equipment.

Increase truck lengths and heights to the standards proposed by the National Association of State Highway Officials.

Require registration of motor vehicles within 30 days after their purchase and provide for a fine of $5 a month for failure to do so.

Permit an enforcement officer to arrest motorists for misdemeanor traffic offenses not committed in his presence. This would legalize use of speed checks by radar.

Facilitate jurisdiction of traffic offenses by state or municipal courts.

License and regulate used auto parts dealers.

ate. Measures which I have joined in putting before the upper house of Congress include the following:

Hospital Care for the elderly under Social Security was again introduced by Senator Anderson, myself, and other Senators. Given top Administration priority, as reflected by its number of S.1, I believe this bill is an essential measure in assuring older Americans of a dignified manner of financing their hospital expenses.

A National Economic Commission and Diversification Commission would be established by a bill that I joined with Senator McGovern in introducing. The commission would help meet the human and economic problems resulting from changing defense needs and changing defense expenditures.

Amendments to the Water Pollution Control Act, which I joined in introducing, would increase the benefits that this measure has meant for so many communities in Missouri and across the Nation.

A Resolution on Presidential Succession, put before the Senate by Senator Bayh, myself, and other Senators, provides for filling the office of Vice President if the need should arise, and sets up a means of determining Presidential inability.

An Amendment to the Water Research Act would increase the authorization of Federal funds for water research at institutions across the country. Tax Relief for Higher Education is similar to a bill of my own that I introduced in the 88th Congress. This measure, which I am co-sponsoring with Senator Ribicoff, amends the Internal Revenue Code to give tax credit for parents who have children in college.

The Cold War G. I. Bill would make available education and other benefits to veterans of the armed forces who entered the service after January 31, 1955.

The 1965 Presidential Inaugural Committee advises me that an illustrated souvenir program of the upcoming inauguration activities is now available.

This 48-page official program of events, containing color photographs and articles by nationally-known writers, may be obtained at a cost of $1.25 from the Inaugural Committee, Program Division, 6th and Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20025.

Final planning for the Inaugural is in full swing. Scores of Missourians have indicated they plan to be here to witness the swearing in of President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey. Assisting in preparations for the inaugural ball are my administrative assistant and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Miles, who are on the floor committee and will be among the hosts and hostesses for the ball at the Shoreham Hotel.

Specialist Says Overweight Can Cause Heart Attacks

CHICAGO (AP)—Are you a prime candidate for a heart attack? One way to tell, says a specialist, is to put a tape measure around your waist. If you're male and measure more than 32 inches, or female and exceed 26, the answer is yes.

Dr. Richard C. Bates of Michigan State University says every inch beyond 32 or 26 means five pounds overweight. And overweight, said Bates, can cause heart attacks.

But in his talk to a luncheon club Tuesday on "How to Have a Heart Attack," Bates said skinny persons shouldn't smirk.

Slender persons suffer just as many heart attacks as does the more robust group—but not so many of the fatal kind, he said.

Weight is just one factor that causes heart attacks, said Bates, a specialist in internal medicine.

Two-packs-a-day smokers, for example, have twice as many heart attacks as non-smokers, he said.

He said there is no evidence that alcoholics have either more or fewer heart attacks than teetotalers.

"They just die of cirrhosis (an inflammatory liver ailment)," he said.

Dr. Bates said that although Swedish people have levels of cholesterol in their blood as high as Americans, they have fewer heart attacks.

It is presumed, he said, that the difference is in the amount of exercise. The Swedes have fewer automobiles and probably not as many self-winding watches, Bates said.

Bates told of an experiment with chickens, the only fowl which can be induced to lay down fatty deposits in their arteries such as human heart attacks victims do.

Experiments have shown, he added, that this tendency can be halted in fat hens by keeping them in a nervous state by introducing a new rooster to the flock every day.

Bring up your son in the way he should go and when he's old he'll go for Social Security.

CLEARANCE SALE 13-14-15-16th

Why have a clearance sale? Wilcoxson & Sons have an established policy of having a clearance sale every six months. This is done to accomplish several things. One, it allows us to clean up our odds and ends that will accumulate from time to time. Two, it allows us to sell some of our buyers mistakes. Regardless of what the reason, no buyer can guess right every time. Three, there are some items damaged from time to time. We cannot list the reason for every item but it will pay you to come in and see these values.

Graham Blasts Supreme Court on Re-apportionment

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Thomas D. Graham, speaker of the Missouri House of Representatives, charged today that the Supreme Court of the United States' sweeping decision involving state legislative apportionment are perhaps the most blatant usurpations of constitutional power in the history of our country.

Graham, Cole County Democrat who had just been elected speaker for a third straight term, took the occasion of his election to blast the court.

"The United States Supreme Court is no longer above politics," he said. "It is in politics."

"It is fundamental to our government that lawmaking powers rest with the legislative branch. The concept that nine men appointed for life and not responsible to my electorate, have any legislative authority in our government is so destructive of democracy that it threatens the survival of our political system."

Democrats Have Beefed up Their Control of the House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats have beefed up their already substantial control of House committees, placing themselves in a stronger position to push President Johnson's legislative program.

The most sweeping revision of House committee makeup in 25 years especially brightens Democratic prospects for health care, education and immigration measures.

With the single exception of the Rules Committee, which continues to be made up of 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans, the Democrats in control of the House dealt themselves bigger shares of committee strength.

The outnumbered Republicans went along, grateful at least that none of their members who were re-elected will have to lose a committee assignment in the shakeup.

The decisions were made Tuesday at a bargaining session described by House Democratic and Republican leaders as amicable.

Give Program For Assistance To Taxpayers

The Taxpayer Assistance Program for the forthcoming filing period January 4, 1965 through April 15, 1965 in the St. Louis District was announced today by E. O. Bookwalter, District Director.

The instruction booklet which you received with your tax return form has been designed to answer most of your Federal tax questions. Individuals are urged to use the instruction booklet first; then if they do not find the answer to their problem, they may call the nearest Internal Revenue Office.

Also new editions of tax guides that are now available are "Your Federal Income Tax" ($.50), "Tax Guide for Small Business" ($.50), "Depreciation Guidelines" ($.30), "Farmer's Tax Guide" (Free), and others relating to several specific tax areas.

Telephone Assistance at the St. Louis Headquarters Office located in the U. S. Court & Custom House Building, 1114 Market Street, is available Monday through Friday by calling MAIN 2-4081 and asking for tax information. Also personal assistance, if needed, will be available on Mondays and Fridays in the Lower Level of this building.

Telephone Assistance at the Kansas City Branch Office located at the U. S. Court House, 811 Grand Avenue, is available Monday through Friday by calling BALTIMORE 1-7000. Also personal assistance, if needed, will be available on Mondays in Room 907 in the Court House.

Telephone assistance and personal assistance will be available on Friday only at: Cape Girardeau, Himmelberger-Harrison Bldg., Ed 5-3932, Poplar Bluff, 213 S. Broadway, Su 5-3910, Kennett, 711 First St., Tu 8-2782.

"If citizens of both parties do not unite to force the court back to its proper functions, the Constitution is dead and so is freedom."

"The most horrifying picture I can imagine is that of our children having to battle tomorrow for liberties that we let slip away today."

As he has before, Graham recommended that the legislature delay until June 1 before completing reapportionment ordered by the federal courts.

That, he said, would give Congress time to enact legislation upstaging the federal court edicts.

He also told House members some of the things he hoped could be accomplished by this session.

He urged an improved educational program focussed on "quality rather than quantity," the promotion of Missouri's industry and commerce, no tax increases and adequate office space for all legislators.

Democrats Have Beefed up Their Control of the House

A key decision was to change the ratio of the Ways and Means Committee from 15 Democratic and 10 Republican members to 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans.

This appeared virtually to ensure — if any further assurance should be necessary — that the committee will approve some sort of health care plan for the aged related to Social Security.

The committee had been the graveyard of Social Security health care plans, consistently opposed by all the Republicans, and by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and enough other Democrats to make up a majority.

Mills has indicated he would be amenable to a compromise version in which taxation for health care and for the traditional Social Security benefits would be kept separate.

The Appropriations Committee, divided 30-20 with Democrats in control since 1951, now will have a 34-16 ratio.

Memo from Benjamin Plotinus, Chairman, English Department, to Coach Musselman: Remembering our discussions of your football men who are having troubles in English, I have decided to ask you, in turn, for help. We feel that Paul Spindles, one of our most promising scholars, has a chance for a Rhodes Scholarship, which would be a great thing for him and for our college. Paul has the academic record for this award but, ideally, should have a good record in athletics, too. Paul is weak. He tries hard, but he has trouble with sports. We propose that you give some special consideration to Paul as a varsity player, putting him, if possible, in the backfield of the football team. In this way, we can show a better college record to the committee deciding on the Rhodes Scholarships.

We realize that Paul will be a problem on the field, but, as you have often said, cooperation between our department and yours is highly desirable, and we do expect Paul to try hard. His work in English Club and on the debating team will force him to mis-

many practices, but we intend to see that he carries an old football around to bounce (or whatever one does with a football) during intervals in his work. --William F. Stafford.

the legislature.

The Survey said that voters make a different kind of decision on local bond issues from most others they make. Most decisions, it said, consist of passing judgment on candidates, tax levies and other referendum issues, the terms of which usually run two to four years, which permits these decisions to be changed or reaffirmed in subsequent elections as circumstances dictate.

But, the Survey said, most bond issues are sold for repayment over a 20-year period and thus constitute irrevocable, long-term commitments, backed by the full faith and credit of the political subdivisions, and not subject to change at subsequent elections.

All states place restrictions on the incurrence of local bonded indebtedness, the Survey reported. Historically, over-extension and default of local debt resulted in these restraints being imposed, the Survey said.

The Survey listed six kinds of restrictions, which, it said, are used in many combinations among the states. These include: Size of majority vote required, requiring participation of 40 per cent or more of eligible voters, requiring that voters participating in such elections be property-owners, requiring authorization by legislature, requiring approval of a state supervisory agency, and limiting the total amount of debt which can be incurred.

The Survey said it described provisions of other states because conclusions seemed to be widely drawn that Missouri should base its decision on what other states require. The primary consideration, the Survey said, should be what is appropriate for Missouri.

The Survey said authorities hold that it is impossible to rank states in terms of the restrictiveness of their legal provisions governing local government debt.

The Survey pointed out that Missouri's two-thirds requirement applies to all of the state's 3,200 political subdivisions. These include 114 counties, 344 townships, 81 municipalities, about 1,300 school districts, 5 junior college districts, 487 road districts, 107 drainage districts, 59 levee districts, 29 fire districts, 5 water supply districts and 6 sewer districts.

Bond issues have been voted by all of these types of political subdivisions in recent years, the Survey said.

It added that many of the political subdivisions overlap each other. In many areas of the state, overlapping political subdivisions have aggregate authority to incur debt up to 50 per cent of assessed valuation, the Survey said.

The Survey reported that over the last 20 years, voters of Missouri local governments have issued more than $1 billion in general obligation bonds. The volume of bonds approved has risen from an average of $16.7 million a year in the first five years of the period to $78.2 million a year the last five years.

In a sampling of recently approved bond issues, the Survey found that on the average 33 per cent of those eligible to vote did so. Since two-thirds of 33 per cent is 22 per cent, this means, the Survey said, that a small minority of less than one-fourth can, and often does, make the decision under the present two-thirds requirement.

The Survey pointed out that two-thirds and other extraordinary majorities are utilized in reaching various decisions in local, state and federal governments and in standard rules of meetings.

The Survey said the purpose of its report was to present information that would contribute to a sound decision on the constitutional issue of changing the two-thirds requirement. While counseling caution, the report did not make a recommendation as to what majority should be required.

VETERAN COTTON PICKER

He's sixty-four; next year he'll quit. And draw his well-earned 'SS' bit-- But now he wouldn't care to stop. He dally dumps white gold atop the bulging trailer, sack-by-sack, ignores his aching legs and back, And grabs the fluffy bolls 'like mad', Remembering all the years he's had.

Some years, these fields stood proud and rich; "White unto harvest"--that to which The Lord just might have once referred, Had 'grain' (or souls) not been the word. That he intended to convey-- Those years, rejoicing held full sway! The trouble, then, would seem worthwhile-- And debts were paid up, with a smile.

Sometimes the harvest was so lean, This toiling picker had to glean For 'pittance' wage--nor felt defeat; He took the bitter with the sweet. He knew no other trade or 'skill' (This was a way; He had the will.) He'd met his family's demands, With his own cotton-pickin' hands!

His pick-sack makes a seat, To rest And meditate. But: "I'll be blest, If that contraption being wheeled Down through the turn-row to this field, Ain't sure that great, big red machine That can pick cotton--but not clean!" He lunges up! He's in the mood To show that 'picker' up--but good! --Agnes Collins

Medicine Man. A young African becoming a Christian turned over three fetishes to a missionary. One was a bottle of medicine which he said had protected him on journeys; one was a nut filled with medicine which he claimed had protected him against beatings by colonial administrators; and the third was a root which he said had "got him his girl friends." When the missionary returned to the States, he brought the fetishes with him, and when he spoke before various congregations frequently passed them around for the parishioners to see. "Somehow, somewhere," he reports, "the root disappeared." --New York Times Magazine

Urges Caution in Changing Bond Voting Requirement

Caution should be exercised in changing Missouri's requirement that two-thirds of those voting on local government bond issues must approve before general obligation bonds can be issued, Missouri Public Expenditure Survey said in a report issued today.

It is expected that moves will be made in the General Assembly to reduce the two-thirds requirement to a three-fifths majority or a simple majority. Changing the requirement would require submission to the voters of a proposed constitutional amendment by

Ancient British Wassail is Conducted in Apple Orchard

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) —You could almost hear the evil apple spirits jump for joy when the British consul general's shotgun went click instead of boom.

"It was very embarrassing," Ronald Wilby said Thursday. Wilby had come to this American apple center to help growers participate in the wassail rite celebrated each Twelfth Night. A similar ceremony is held in Carhampton, Somerset, England.

Following a custom established in 1400, Wilby opened the festivities by dipping a piece of toast in hot cider and placing it in a special apple tree to placate the birds.

Then he recited these words: Here's to the old apple tree, Whence thou mayest bud, Whence thou mayest bow, Whence thou mayest send me apples enow.

Bushfuls, capfuls, three-score bushfuls.

And my pocketfull too. Then, Wilby solemnly aimed a specially painted shotgun into the branches to scare away the evil spirits. Click went the fowling piece. "Is this cocked?" I asked them," Wilby said.

Twice more he tried. Each time there was only a click. "Finally, I just said bang" and we were held to have done a proper job."

The celebrants moved on to more festive parts of the ancient Saxon ceremony, including drinking hard cider from a silver wassail bowl. The bowl will be shipped to Eric Tarr, proprietor of the Butcher's Arms Inn in Carhampton, where the ceremony originated.

The rite was imported to America after Maurice Heland, a Yakima newspaperman, attended the Carhampton version in 1957.

Despite the misfire, Wilby, assigned to Seattle, said he had been assured next year's crop would be a good one.

Yakima growers hope he is right. They already have had their share of bad luck this season, including a near-record cold that damaged some orchards.

James M. Coleman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Technical Sergeant James M. Coleman, son of Mrs. James A. Coleman of 314 Daniel St., Sikeston, Mo., has completed the special U. S. Air Force recruiter course at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Sergeant Coleman, whose previous assignment was at Luke AFB, Ariz., will be an official Air Force recruiter at Chicago. He was selected for the special assignment as a volunteer with an outstanding military record.

The sergeant was trained in 11 areas of study, including the Air Force job classifications system, testing procedures and community relations to broaden his qualifications for presenting the facts of Air Force career opportunities to young men and women.

Sergeant Coleman is a graduate of Sikeston High School. His wife, Elizabeth, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ortis Howes of 4913 Hagemann, Kansas City, Kan.

SAIGON, Viet Nam — Captain Robert G. Thorpe, whose father, George W. Thorpe, resides at 832 Briar Lane, Beloit, Wis., has been awarded the U. S. Air Force Air Medal for meritorious achievement during aerial flight in support of the fight against communist aggression in Viet Nam.

Captain Thorpe, a C-123 pilot, is on duty with a unit of the Pacific Air Forces which provide airpower for defense of the U. S. and its allies in the Pacific and Far East areas. The captain flies with Vietnam-based Air Force crews to assist and advise them on combat

Polio Almost Vanished from This Country

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Polio has almost vanished from the United States within a scant decade in one of medicine's most dramatic triumphs over an ancient scourge of mankind.

"It is apparent that with a continued effort to vaccinate the yet unschooled young people and the newborn babies, we can eliminate poliomyelitis as a public health problem in this country in the near future," a government agency reports.

That is a statement from the Communicable Disease Center of the U.S. Public Health Service. It comes only 10 years after Salk vaccine opened the way to conquer polio.

The statistics behind that statement are even more impressive.

It was in 1952 that crippling polio reached a terrible peak in the United States. That year 57,879 persons fell victim to the disease, 3,145 died and nearly 20,000 were left with the crippling effect of polio.

Last year there were only 121 persons stricken in the entire nation. Fewer than 10 died and far less than 100 had paralytic after-effects.

Ten years ago, Dr. Jonas F. Salk provided the first break in the fight against polio with his vaccine. This was buttressed six years later by Dr. Albert Sabin's vaccine.

Medicine thus found the key to a disease that had killed and maimed long before its cause was known — perhaps as long ago as 1400 B.C. Polio had been a vague, mysterious malady until 1840 when Dr. Jacob Heine, a German bone specialist, described its nature.

In 1902, an Austrian immunologist, Karl Landsteiner, proved that the disease resulted from a minute virus. Then three Harvard bacteriologists, John F. Enders, Frederick C. Robbins and Thomas H. Weller, developed a process for growing the virus in tissue cultures.

That made possible the development of the vaccines and the phenomenal victory over polio in the United States.

But the danger is never over. Dr. Pierce Gardner, chief of the polio surveillance unit at the CDC, warned that approximately four million babies born each year must be vaccinated promptly. He said poorly immunized persons must be found and vaccinated.

Morehouse News

The Kiwanis Club met Thursday evening at the Koffee Kip for their regular dinner meeting with twelve members attending and President Rudy Chittendon presiding.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dillard and Angela of St. Louis spent from Saturday until Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Goodwin.

PAUL W. HILL, right, receives an American flag from Capt. W. A. Pardee as Hill, a senior chief quartermaster of the Navy, retires from active duty.

CPO Paul Hill Retired from 28 Years Navy

Paul W. Hill, retired USN senior chief quartermaster, now associated with the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co., of Fort Wayne, Ind. is making his home in Sikeston where he was on duty for some time as a recruiting officer for the Navy.

When he retired on Dec. 1, 1964, Mr. Hill had the unique experience that comes only to those retiring from Naval service, an account of which was published in the Service paper of Woodriver, Ill.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hart returned home Monday from the Doctor's Hospital in Poplar Bluff where she had been a medical patient for nine days.

as follows: "Senior Chief Quartermaster Paul W. Hill, U.S. Navy, was piped over the side from the USS Mispillion (AO-105) with his fellow CPOs acting as side-boys to end a Navy career of almost 28 years of active duty. During his career, a great deal of which was spent at sea, Chief Hill served aboard many types of ships.

His first and last ships were oilers based in Long Beach. He reported aboard USS Brazos (AO-4), in 1937 as a seaman second class for deck duty. Twenty-eight years later he left USS Mispillion a master of his trade.

World War II saw him stationed aboard a sub chaser and a mine sweeper in the Pacific theater. In 1944 Hill made chief petty officer. Since that time he has served aboard destroyers and ammunition ships and has also had several tours of recruiting duty. His last duty station aboard the fleet oiler Mispillion included a tour of the western Pacific with stops at Pearl Harbor, the Japanese ports of Yokosuka, Sasebo, Hiroshima and Hakodate, the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong, and Subic Bay in the Philippines. Chief Hill will reside at 535 Carroll Ave., Sikeston, Mo., with his wife, Helen, upon retirement from the Navy.

Government Spending Plan To Be Revealed

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal government's new spending plans will be revealed piecemeal in coming days and weeks as presidential messages pepper Capitol Hill. The total may well be impressive. But businessmen are noting that federal spending in itself added little impetus to the economic activity that burgeoned for other reasons in 1964. They doubt if federal outlays will increase enough this year to play much of a role in keeping the economy growing faster.

Bankers think Washington's monetary policies will have a bigger part, both in stimulating business and in affecting confidence, than the size of the U.S. budget, or of total federal spending, which is always greater than the formal budget.

State and local spending has climbed steadily, and will continue to do so. This will feed the economic growth in 1965, as it notably has since 1962. But federal spending has gone up fairly sedately, even if the mix among the defense and civilian projects sometimes varied markedly.

Treasury fiscal policies, however, already are affecting confidence in the banking and investment world. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York notes today that Treasury plans for a major refunding this month had a large part in quieting American jitters caused by signs of weakness in the British pound sterling and increased buying of gold on the free market.

Announcement that holders of $33 billion of eight outstanding issues of government securities would be given the chance to trade them in for three issues of longer maturity — and more generous interest rates — quickly improved the tone of the money market, the bank says.

Treasury calm, it explains, made investors feel that "the sterling situation must be less threatening than had been feared." By going ahead this month with business as usual the Treasury was saying that the U.S. economy is strong and getting stronger. Future moves by the Treasury in handling the federal debt also can either bolster confidence or put a rein on it.

Handling of the U.S. Treasury deficit, as new budget proposals will soon show, can also affect business confidence. The expectation is that the deficit will continue as almost a Treasury fixture, but that it won't be increased or decreased very much.

How can a broadcast spreader cause hidden hunger in corn?

Take a handful of pea gravel. Put it in a bucket. Add a handful of sand. And another of dust. Shake it up. Blend it well. Throw it out. What landed where?

Now — think a minute. What kind of feeding would your crop get if the pea gravel were your phosphate... the sand, your potash... and the dust, your nitrogen?

See now why Swift "fuses" plant food ingredients. Your plants get balanced, even feeding. This means consistent high yields and lower plant food cost per unit of yield.

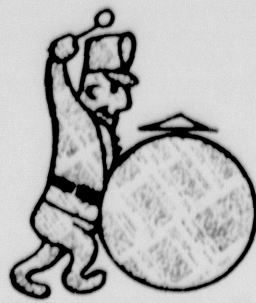

Come in & inspect our product that is Chemically fused.

I'm sure you will agree this process will insure an even free flowing distribution of plant food even in a broadcast spreader.

Women have always known been placed on the taxpayer that while men may be by the increase in the federal stronger they are definitely civilian payroll. Senator not smarter. And now an in-Harry F. Byrd reports that ternationally known male ex-the payroll has jumped from pert in occupational medicine $4.9 billion to $9.4 billion in is giving the distaff side the 10 years, with raises and up-scientific evidence it has been grading more responsible for waiting to hear. At a recent rise than an increase in international health congress. the number of employees.

Swedish doctor Sven Forssman presented a report on intelligence tests showing equality in brainpower between males and females and rebuff of the traditional assumption that women are physiologically better qualified than men for certain jobs such as nursing or assembly line work. What is more some working women of our nation are lending practical support to Dr. Forssman's findings.

Among them are the women railroad workers, baggage handlers, truck drivers, glaziers, plumbers, undertakers, doctors, dentists, lawyers, engineers, and even politicians.

Working women should take note of two economic facts. Last year, everyone working an eight-hour day, put in two hours and 21 minutes to pay taxes. A further burden has do at the same time.

ond preference would continue to go to unmarried children of U.S. citizens, third preference to spouses and children of aliens in the United States.

The new bill would abolish the ban against the mentally retarded or aliens with histories of mental illness. Such persons could be admitted if they are close relatives of U.S. citizens or aliens previously admitted.

The law also would eliminate the requirement that aliens seeking first preference already have jobs lined up in this country. And it would grant partial preference for the first time to aliens who could fill certain labor shortages here. The old law requires immigrants seeking preference because of their skills to meet rigorous standards as specialists.

New advances in glue allow women to sew and mend without using needle and thread. A creamy paste that comes in a tube mends patches sews buttons and stops runs in nylons. Future glues that will enable garments to be made without sewing are currently being researched.

The latest trend to wigs and wiglets is responsible for starting a new fashion in headwear. One milliner with an interest in the wig business has combined hair and hats. Curls that match the wearer's own are tacked on to hats by means of sticky paper that attaches to the brims of hats. Now a girl can don a new hat and hair-taxes. A further burden has do at the same time.

The old bill was designed to maintain the racial and ethnic balance of the U.S. population — as it was in 1920.

New Madrid Local Stocks Wins 52-41

MATTHEWS -- The Matthews Pirates suffered their first loss of 1965 here last night as they went down to the New Madrid Indians 52-41. This moves the Pirates to a 7-5 record for the season.

New Madrid got out to a small four point lead the first quarter and managed to increase it to eight as the halftime buzzer sounded.

The Indians came out from the intermission to add four more to their lead to give them a 12 point buffer.

Larry Glenn led the Indian assault with 12 markers. Arthur McCoy was the big pirate scorer with 14. Matthews' ordinarily big point maker, Schue-renberg, was held to five point production.

Matthews won the "B" game 36-27. Larry Clark led the Pirates with 7. Stowe was high for the losers with 6.
